COLLISIONS TOTAL 15 IN SEVEN DAYS

Glendale Evening News Wins Praise for Campaign For Safe Driving

At midnight Saturday, August 16, when The Glendale Evening News' Safety Week came to a close, there had been only fifteen accidents in Glendale during the preceding seven days, as compared to thirty-two accidents during the week ending August 9, and forty-seven accidents during the week ending August 2.

These figures, which were obtained from the accident reports filed at the police department, show a reduction of more than 50 per cent over the previous week, and approximately 68 per cent over the week ending August 2.

Five On Saturday

Saturday, the busiest day of the week, showed the greatest number of accidents. Five were reported to the police for that day. Thursday was a close second with four accidents reported. Sunday, Wednesday and Friday had two each, while Monday and Tuesday were banner days, without an accident being reported.

Damage in the fifteen accidents occurring during The Glendale Evening News' Safety Week was slight. There were no serious accidents, no persons were injured and there were no deaths.

Lauds News' Efforts

"It is most gratifying, indeed, to see that as a direct result of The Glendale Evening News' Safety Week the number of automobile accidents in Glendale was reduced from thirty-two to fifteen last week," said Lyman P. Clark, president of the Glendale Motor Car Dealers' association, and president of the Glendale Motor Car company, 124 West Colorado street. "This report shows that the efforts of The Glendale Evening News were not in vain, for the campaign caused drivers to think, and when motorists stop to think, careful and cautious driving is sure to follow, with corresponding lessening of accidents. I only hope the ideas expressed last week and the thoughts gained on safe and sane driving will be remembered for every day in the year."

"I am highly pleased with the results of Safety Week," said Po-

BRYAN WILL BE NOTIFIED TONIGHT

'Brother Bill' Is Spectator At Ceremonial for Democratic Nominee

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 18.—For the first time in years, the eyes of Democrats the country over today were trained upon this city, the scene of the Bryan vice-presidential notification ceremonies this evening. On three other occasions, in 1896, 1900 and 1908, Lincoln was the center of interest for Democracy when William Jennings Bryan was notified of his selection as the party's presidential candidate. Today, a younger brother, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, is the central figure and William Jennings will participate merely as a spectator.

The ceremonies will be held in the huge University of Nebraska Memorial stadium, which has a seating capacity of 30,000. The center of the field has been rigged up with amplifiers and radio apparatus, donated by the citizens of Lincoln, which will carry the notification address of Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi and Bryan's acceptance to millions of listeners throughout the country.

MALTA, Aug. 18.—A light earthquake shock was felt here today. This is the seat of the British naval base in the Mediterranean sea.

SMALL TOWN HIT BY MOTOR TRAVEL

Councilman Davis Returns From Two-Months' Tour Of Middle West

"The day of the small town is passing in the middle west," according to Sam Davis, Glendale city councilman who returned here Sunday, after two months touring which included visits to his old home in Elk City, Kansas; Topeka, Kansas City, St. Louis, Cincinnati and Indianapolis.

"With motor cars in vogue, only a corner grocery, drug store, bank and a half dozen oil stations are needed in the business districts of the smaller communities as people can easily visit the larger cities."

And the small town editors hold rancor in their heart for southern California which is attracting their retired population, the councilman found. They blame the motoring craze on California, which has cost their local merchants business. Whenever a person has failed to make good in the west these country newspapers are gald to accord the "prodigal sons" space to vent their spleens on southern California.

Wheat Crop Good

"As a result people are led to believe that Los Angeles is 'flat,'" commented Mr. Davis. But about conditions in the middle west, particularly Kansas, he has the following to say:

"True, there is a good wheat crop, but it will not bring enough to pay the back interest and liquidate the debts of several years' standing. Then, too, there are thousands of acres in Iowa, Illinois and other states of the central west not cultivated this year because of too much rain and lack of farmers. Hired help is only to be had at a premium with the oil fields offering $5 a day to men.

"Politics are all mixed up. The La Follette boosters are noisy in the rural districts and in Indiana there are some who predict he will carry that Republican state as well as his home state of Wisconsin. It simply shows that the farmers still are dissatisfied."

Councilman Davis announced that at Thursday's meeting he was going on record against the ordinance passed in his absence which permits of billboards in Glendale.

THRONG SEES HOPIS PRAY FOR RAIN

Snake Dance Comes to Climax at Sunset Today On Painted Desert

HOTEVILLA, Ariz., Aug. 18.—More than 5000 visitors from all parts of the country gathered here today to watch 2000 Hopi Indians in their weird, heathen snake dance—the dance with live snakes—which, the Indians hope, will flood their desert lands with rain.

Tonight's dance will close nine days of ceremonials, marked by all the strange customs of the Hopi tribe, one of the world's oldest peoples.

At noon today the great collection of snakes—numbering more than 100, and including many poisonous rattlesnakes, were carefully washed in an underground pit, known as the snake "kiva."

Thirty-nine of the Indian priests, gathered in the "kiva" and each snake was dipped in a large bowl of native pottery, filled with sacred water. Then, after being sprinkled with powdered meal, the reptiles were thrown at the foot of the sacred altar, made on varied colored sands and showing designs to represent lightning, the clouds and sunshine.

This evening, as the sun dips on the painted desert, the snake dance will start. High on a lofty mesa a series of altars has been constructed from adobe, sand and cottonwood.

Members of the tribe will first surround the "kiva," waiting for the approach of the snake priests. The Indians will sing their peculiar chants and sprinkle corn meal all about, stamping their feet in it to warn their gods of their coming.

Holds Snake in Mouth

Finally the snake priests approach and, at a given signal, divide into groups of three. One Indian in each trio holds a basin in which are carried the ceremonial snakes. He takes a snake from the basin and, while the others chant and yell, places it in his mouth. The other two also take hold of the snake with their mouths and then prance about. Each of the groups follow.

From time to time the snakes are dropped to the ground and fresh reptiles taken from the basin. This is continued until all the snakes captured in a special four days' hunt are used.

Finally all the snakes are gathered in a pile, the chief priest comes forward, sprinkles meal, beads, broken sticks and small stones about, and all the Indians chant the Hopi songs.

Three Days of Feasting

Then the chief priest covers the snakes with water, all the Indians circle about, grabbing handfuls of the reptiles, which are carried to the surrounding altars and released to the four points of the compass.

The priests now retire to the "kiva" and drink deeply of an emetic. This is for internal purification.

As the ceremony ends the Hopis dance about furiously, and three days of feasting follow.

The snake dance has nothing to do with snake worship, and the reptiles are used only because to the Indians they represent the intermediary between their rain gods and themselves. The entire ceremony is regarded by the Hopis as a prayer for rain.

French Evacuation Of Germany Starts In Towns of Baden

KEPL, Germany, Aug. 18.—The French commander-in-chief in Baden today announced the evacuation of Offenberg and Appenir by French occupational forces. Seventeen hundred French troops are preparing to move.

Retirement of the French troops from the two Baden towns is the first troop movement under the French promise made to the Germans at London to withdraw troops from Germany "as quickly as possible." The withdrawal of occupational forces from Baden has no connection, however, with the French pledge to recall their occupational troops from the Ruhr.

DELEGATES TELL OF DEBT PARLEY

German Envoy to Reparation Conference Report to President Ebert

BERLIN, Aug. 18.—Chancellor Marx, Foreign Secretary Stresemann and the other German delegates to the London reparations conference arrived home today and immediately went into conference with President Ebert.

Later, President Ebert summoned a cabinet meeting to get a report on the London agreement and the senior committee of the Reichstag met to arrange for a Reichstag meeting to enact legislation to put the Dawes plan into operation.

It is understood the premiers of the German federated states will meet tomorrow at the same time as the foreign relations committee of the Reichstag.

Call Meeting Soon

It was suggested that the Reichstag be summoned next Monday, but after the meeting of the senior committee it was reported that the session may begin Thursday or Friday.

Chancellor Marx and the foreign secretary will make a report on the reparations conference at a plenary session.

The German delegates' arrival was almost unnoticed. There was only a handful of people at the railway station and no special police guards at all.

ZANNI STILL GOING

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Major Zanni, Argentine round-the-world flyer, has reached French Indo-China, completing 6,850 miles in twenty-two days, said a dispatch to the Star this afternoon.

COOLIDGE IS 'HAYMAKER' ON FARM

President Tries Hand at Real Dirt Farming In Native Vermont

PLYMOUTH, Vermont, Aug. 18.—President Coolidge set out today to establish himself as a real "dirt farmer." A hay field was his setting. Two hand-made wooden rakes furnished the inspiration.

There was not much work to be done, for most of the hay was gathered, Colonel John Coolidge, the president's father, had thoughtfully left a small patch, however.

"I thought maybe Calvin would like to try his hand at it," the old man explained.

Rakes Are Presents

The rakes were presented to the president and his father soon after breakfast by Representative Treadway of Massachusetts, who had made a special trip to Plymouth for them. All-wood affairs, they were made by Marshall W. Steadman of Lyringham, Mass., of the fourth generation of a family of rake makers, whose greatest claim to distinction is that he "bends the bows by hand."

Aside from the hay raking, the president's third day of vacation in the Vermont hills was without particular incident. The daily pilgrimage to the grave of Calvin, Jr., dead just five weeks, was made. But in other respects Mr. Coolidge meticulously observed his intention of getting complete rest and relaxation.

Debt Parley Pleases

News of the acceptance of the Dawes' plan by the allied conference at London was read by President Coolidge with great satisfaction. In a formal statement issued Sunday evening, he termed it "the end of the war and of an honorable and lasting peace."

Of particular interest to the president was the prospect of at least collecting some six billion of war debts owed the United States by France, Italy and Belgium. With acceptance of the Dawes' plan prompt opening of negotiations with American world debt funding commission may be expected.

Sunday an automobile ride was taken and later he and his family listened to a sermon by the Rev. John White on the need of a return to simplicity and greater faith in religion.

DARROW HECTIC WITH ALIENISTS

State Experts Continue With Testimony In Loeb, Leopold Trial

CRIMINAL COURT, CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—The state passed the third milestone today in its efforts to prove that Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb were mentally sound when they killed Bobby Franks, and as such are fit subjects for hanging.

At the end of two hours more of hectic, sarcastic cross-examination at the hands of Clarence Darrow, generalissimo of the defense, Dr. H. Douglas Singer was permitted to leave the stand with his testimony largely unshaken that the collegians are no more mentally diseased than any other men who deliberately committed murder. Dr. Singer is the third state alienist to so testify.

Fight Over Phrase

The alienist and the lawyer fought continuously throughout today's session of the trial, using words, phrases and definitions of such heavy-weighted medical terms as "paranoid personalities," "schizophrenic personalities" and "split" personalities" as their weapons.

It is the contention of the defense that Nathan and Dicky have all these and that this fact contributed largely to their ambition to commit the "perfect crime" by kidnaping and slaying the Franks boy.

Darrow desisted finally and when court adjourned for the usual noon recess, the stage was set for the state to put the last of its quartet of mind experts on—Dr. William O. Krohn, of Chicago, who has had a large share in shaping the state's entire campaign to break down the "mental disease" theory advanced by the defense.

Sufferin' Cats! Dogs Aid Them Canning Canaries

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—Jazz mania and the lure of the bright lights sadly depleted San Francisco's supply of imported Swiss roller canaries and aristocratic Japanese goldfish.

A mixed canine and feline quartet staged a party in the window of a Market street pet store.

Two Pomeranian dogs were hosts to a pair of Angora cats and when the rivalry had subsided after police forced an entrance to the store, the window display of canaries and goldfish had diminished to a few feathers and shiny scales, while the tabbies were loud in their praise of the party their canine friends had staged for them.

McCoy Sane, Declare Alienists for State

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—Climaxing a day of sensations in the investigation of the mystery death of Mrs. Teresa Mors, in connection with which "Kid" McCoy is held here in jail, District Attorney Asa Keyes announced late today that alienists employed by him had declared the former pugilist sane.

Each of three alienists, Dr. Paul Burke, Dr. Lewis Weber and Dr. Victor Parkin agreed that McCoy showed no signs of insanity, Keyes said.

Shortly before the alienists completed their report, sensational charges that jewels worth $12,000 had been removed from Mrs. Mors' person either just before or just after she died, were made by attorneys representing the woman's former husband, Albert Mors.

The attorneys charged Mrs. Mors was slain for her fortune in jewels, which they claim she had in her possession when she was killed.

Mrs. Jennie Thomas, McCoy's sister, it was also learned, admitted to the authorities Mrs. Mors had given McCoy several valuable pieces of jewelry. She said they were "gifts to Norman from Teresa."

French Troops Leave Two Towns In Germany

LONDON, Aug. 18.—French occupational troops at Offenburg and Appenweir in the German province of Baden, were ordered to withdraw today, according to word from Paris. This movement is said to have no connection with French plans for retirement from the Ruhr.

QUAKES IN ITALY

SYRACUSE, Italy, Aug. 18.—Two earthquake shocks were felt here today. There was no damage.

LIGHT RAINS REPORTED FALLING TODAY

Forest Fire Hazards Are Minimized by Showers; Prunes, Grapes Safe

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—Light rains which fell at widely separated points in Northern California today, heralding the breaking of the long drought, failed to damage California's $15,000,000 prune and grape crops.

State-wide reports to the California grape growers' exchange and to the California prune and apricot growers' association, declared that where rain fell it was so light that no damage to ripening crops was sustained.

Some fears were felt for the prune crop which is just beginning to drop from the trees. Some trays are drying and sudden heavy rains would ruin the crop, it was said.

Drizzle Beneficial

The drizzle was said to have had a beneficial rather than detrimental effect on the grape crop which will not ripen for at least three weeks.

Heavy rains a month hence would do great damage to the grape crop said officials of the grape growers' organization.

The rainfall and general foggy condition was hailed with relief by state and national forestry officials. The moisture in the air and rainfall in northern California will greatly assist their battle against the forest fire hazard, they declared.

Precipitation Small

The weather bureau had reports of .01 rainfall at Eureka, Cal., and a trace at Santa Rosa. The latter point is in the heart of the grape and prune belt. Oakland reported .02 precipitation in the east bay district last night and early today. Redding reports a drizzle there and slight rainfall at various points in the Sacramento canyon as far north as Dunsmuir.

A storm moving eastward today over Alberta was responsible for the rainfall, according to weather bureau. Rain was predicted for

Governor Smith Vital Factor In Davis Race

New York Executive Holds Power to Make or Mar Democratic Candidate's Chances In Campaign For Presidency

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Although a number of Democratic leaders believe the greatest opportunity for John W. Davis lies in a fifty-fifty split of the Republican vote of the west between La Follette and Coolidge, not a few chieftains are insistent that Governor Al Smith is Democracy's real Moses, and that upon his decision the whole course of the Democratic campaign in the east will turn.

Al Smith, it would seem, has it in his power to be the innocent means of injuring the Davis candidacy or helping it. Just now the most interesting discussions are going on which indicate conclusively that John W. Davis, himself, is deeply concerned over the trend of Governor Smith's mind.

To understand the situation, with its many sides, it must be remembered that the close friends of Al Smith have not given up hope of ultimately landing him in the White House. While the governor, himself, will render loyal support, he cannot control all of his followers. Some of them, he thinks, might vote for him and cut Davis on the mistaken assumption that in this way they could demonstrate the truth of their pre-convention boast that Al Smith could carry New York even in a presidential year. The governor has said to close friends that if he ran for re-election he might not be helping Davis to poll the normal Democratic vote. He argued that possibly he would do more good by stumping other states like New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island where he is admittedly popular and would draw enormous crowds, whereas if he ran for governor of New York all his time would have to be devoted to speechmaking in the Empire State itself.

Looking to 1928

This viewpoint has been misrepresented, as it has percolated through Democratic channels, into a story that the real purpose of the governor's advisers in dissuading him from running is a selfish one and that they really want him to spend his time on the stump, pot in the east but in the west in preparation for the

Miss Lawson Reported 'Casey' Stengel's Bride

A report has been received that a marriage license has been issued in Kansas City, Mo., to Miss Edna Mae Lawson of 225 North Brand boulevard, and Charles D. "Casey" Stengel of the Boston Nationals, and hero in the world series of 1923, when he played with the New York Giants.

Miss Lawson has been east since August 3 visiting with her brother, Lieutenant Lawrence A. Lawson of Scott Field, Belleville, Ill.

Mrs. J. W. Lawson, mother of Miss Lawson, stated this morning she had received word from her daughter announcing she would arrive in Glendale Thursday of this week, but was not advised, however, as to her daughter and Mr. Stengel being married.

Dance Teachers Meet To Devise New Steps

Flaunting of Old 'Form' by College Youths Stirs Condemnation of Professors in Solemn Gotham Conclave

By ROBERT T. SMALL

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The dancing masters of the nations have been meeting in solemn conclave here for the past week endeavoring to eliminate some of the old steps and to introduce new ones. Now that they are through, the "college boys" will go ahead and invent the actual steps that 99 per cent of the dancers will be dancing during the next twelve months. It is a "collegiate" time in which we are living.

Some of the professional reformers who recently made an investigation of the dance halls of the metropolis officially blamed the college students for introducing the steps to which they objected. Not only do the boys devise the foot movements, but they have their own ideas as to posture and where the hands and arms should be held.

Want Action, Pep

It is only fair to say that none of the collegiate notions coincide with those of the dancing masters. Most of the latter are old masters. They revere the dance which for so long has furnished them with a livelihood. They do not like the modern way of flaunting the old "form." Especially, they do not like the ignoring of the waltz. The college influence is responsible for more, too, it would seem. The modern student is not a dreamy, wistful person. He is a practical man. He wants action and "pep" and he means to have it.

Nevertheless, the dancing masters have gone ahead and issued their new rules and edicts. They would forever break the grasshopper grip," the "June bug hug" and the "hip-to-hip" hold of the younger set, who believe so implicitly in everything "collegiate" from trousers that flap in the breeze, to skirts that skirt the knees.

With all due ceremony the masters have decreed that dancing couples should "at all times" and presumably at all places, be at least three inches apart. A few years ago the rule was six inches. So it can be seen that even these jealous guardians of the morals of the dance floor are giving ground just a little to the onward rush of the modern.

DANCE TEACHERS PLAN NEW STEPS

Revival of Waltz Sought at Convention In Gotham Of Instructors

Placing the Hands

The masters also have ruled that the left arm of the "gentleman," who is guiding the "lady" should be extended in a graceful manner, while his right hand rests gently but a bit firmly in the small of the lady's back.

"That's the applesauce," said a young dancer today. "If the Prince of Wales reads about it and gets the idea you gotta dance three inches away from your partner, he'll cancel his trip to the United States."

As a matter of fact, most of the younger set today would feel they were doing solo dances if you maintained a three inch barrier between them. You might almost as well suggest a three mile limit, and then by treaty, extend it to twelve. To enjoy the real rhythm of the dance and step about as one, the young folks say there must be some point of contact. There has been a decided evolution in this respect during the past few years. First it was thought that one's cheek must be snugly parked against one's partner's cheek. Then the girls took to the custom of boring their heads into their partner's right shoulder. Then there was the knee-cap glide. During the past twelve months the college boys invented the hippity hop.

This strange hold places the girls in danger of curvature of the spine, but they get away with it and seem to like it.

Teachers' Slogan

"Make the dance floor safe for the debutante," is the slogan of the dancing teachers, and they say they are going to have clean dancing throughout the country, even if it be necessary to adopt an amendment to the constitution and enforce it with the army and navy. There is more dancing in the army and navy anyway, than almost any other place on earth. The masters will endeavor once more to resuscitate the dying waltz and promote the sinuous tango. But, if history repeats itself, the masters will propose and the collegiate crowd will dispose. That is the way with this wayward world.

SEE FIRE SWEEP TIMBER REGIONS

Councilman Gilhuly Watches Forest Wiped Out on Holiday Trip

A forest fire that destroyed 1,000,000 feet of cut lumber at Prescott mill and swept through 50,000,000 feet of fine timber in the Florence Lake district of California, near the Southern California Edison company's Huntington Lake reservoir, was one of the thrilling sights witnessed by Councilman and Mrs. S. S. Gilhuly, on their two weeks' camping trip in the High Sierras, from which they returned Saturday afternoon to their home at 342 El Bonito avenue.

With them were their two daughters, Marjorie and Rosemary, and also Dr. and Mrs. F. G. Oldham of 216 Arden avenue and their son, Carrick, and daughter, Dorothy. The party went by motor, leaving Glendale Saturday, August 2, and camping out most of the time. The fishing, they report, was excellent, record catches of trout and bass adding to the pleasure of the outing.

See Rock Tunnel

The outstanding experience of the trip, according to Councilman Gilhuly, was a trip through the great rock tunnel from Florence lake to Huntington lake, as the guests of Edison company officials. This tunnel, when completed, will be thirteen and one-half miles long and fifteen feet square.

The party journeyed 7500 feet into the huge bore, from the Florence lake end, at which point they were 2600 feet underground. Three eight-hour shifts are being operated from six different points along the route, Councilman Gilhuly reports, in order that the tunnel may be in operation by March 1, 1925, which date the Edison company officials have set for completing the monumental project.

Urge Conservation

When this tunnel connecting the two lakes is finished, the officials told Councilman Gilhuly, there will be available enough water to supply the entire state of California. Until that time, they urged upon him the need for continued conservation of water and light, particularly until the next rains come and replenish the water supply in Huntington lake, which Councilman Gilhuly states is at a dangerously low level.

Five Bouts on Card For Elks' High Jinks

Five fast and furious bouts will feature the High Jinks to be presented tonight at the Elks Lodge. On the card arrangd by Ray Galvin, chairman of the jinks committee, are: "Rocky Kansas" and "Benny Leonard," 110 pounds; Roy Edwards and Jack Spahr, 140 pounds; Bud Forester and Kid Essex, 122 pounds; Ralph Myers and Young Leddy, 135 pounds, 135 pounds, and a battle royal with five newsboys taking part. An attempt is being made to get Jess Willard to referee two of the bouts.

Artists selected by Al Cawood of the Egyptian Village will supply musical selections during the affair. Several specialty numbers are promised by Mr. Cawood.

The big event of the night's entertainment will be the watermelon feed, according to Mr. Galvin, with plenty of watermelon on hand and no limits set.

Proceeds of the High Jinks will be used to send the Elks band to the annual convention at Catalina Island, September 17 to 20.

The first woman barrister in Paris, Mlle. Marie-Louise Moreau, has just received the Legion of Honor.

LAUDS PROGRESS OF LOCAL SINGER

Miss Elizabeth Mottern Wins Praise of Professor During Studies

Rev. and Mrs. R. W. Mottern of 211 North Adams street are looking forward to greeting their talented daughter, Miss Elizabeth, Thursday morning, when she will arrive home from a summer in Chicago, where she resumed vocal work with Prof. Percy Rector Stevens at the Chicago College of Music.

Miss Mottern studied with Mr. Stevens two years ago and upon hearing her sing this summer he was most enthusiastic in his interest and praise of her voice unfolding. He says of her: "Miss Mottern has developed most unusually in the past two years, and she has accomplished marvels while with me in the short five weeks' term this summer in Chicago. I feel certain that whatever attracts her talent in singing or teaching she will make a golden success."

During her stay in Chicago, Miss Mottern has been a house guest of her cousin, Mrs. Cora Phillips, living close to both Lake Michigan and Lincoln park. She is returning home by way of San Francisco.

Held for Collision With Traffic Officer

Joe Marcelli of 414 Cottage Home street, Los Angeles, is being held under $300 cash bail at police headquarters, following his arraignment this morning before Police Judge Frank H. Lowe, on a charge of driving his car into the motorcycle of John W. Henderson of the Glendale police department.

Following the accident, which occurred last night at the corner of San Fernando and Los Feliz roads, Marcelli was taken before Dr. G. Kaemmerling, city health officer, who pronounced him under the influence of intoxicating liquor. His trial was set for 2 p. m., August 25.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. M. Pollock of 437 North Harvard street, Los Angeles, are the parents of a son, born this morning, Monday, August 18, 1924, at the Glendale Research hospital.

New York led all states in liquor prescriptions by druggists during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923.

SMITH IS VITAL FACTOR IN RACE

N. Y. Governor May Make Or Mar Success of Davis' Candidacy

1928 campagn. This theory is predicated upon the notion that Al Smith needs to establish contacts in the west, that Davis will not be victorious anyhow and that to help Davis carry the east by running for governor of New York and carrying Davis along might, by chance, bring Davis into the White House, in which case he would be the logical candidate to succeed himself in 1928 and there would be no chance for Al Smith to win presidential honors.

This correspondent came back from Clarksburg, W. Va., on the same train with several Tammany leaders and discussed the gubernatorial situation with them. They gave the sincere impression that while anxious indeed for the triumph of John Davis because he has on more than one occasion shown a distinct friendliness to organization men in politics, their chief concern after all is the local Democratic ticket. They—meaning Tammany—want to win. No votegetter like Al Smith has appeared in a generation in New York politics. So, while they know of Al Smith's disinclination to win again, they feel he would insure the victory of the state and local tickets and they prefer him to make the race. If it helps the national ticket, well and good; if it doesn't, at least the local candidates will have been swept into power.

Although nobody has the right to speak for John Davis authoritatively except himself, some of the Democrats who have discussed the New York situation with him are confident he wants Al Smith to run for governor again. No statement to that effect will come from Mr. Davis because if Al Smith is going to run he will do so not as an adjunct to the national ticket with a half-hearted interest in his own race, but in response to the demand of the people of New York state for another administration of their affairs at Albany. The last time he ran he did not disclose his intention too early in the race.

Should Al Smith fail to become the Democratic nominee for governor of New York, it may be seriously doubted whether his stump speaking will be in the west. Al Smith is known as a "wet," and the Democratic managers would be taking a big chance to send any pronounced "wets" to the dry west to tell the people of the arid belt how to vote. In the east, however, where to be a "wet" in politics is considered no great handicap, but, on the contrary, in the larger cities is a great asset, the New York governor would be helping Davis by giving him enthusiastic support. Nor would there be any question of sincerity involved, because Al Smith had the delegations from the big eastern states at last month's convention, and could have them again if he runs in 1928. The strength of William Gibbs McAdoo was in the west. According to letters received here from Europe, Mr. McAdoo plans to make speeches for John W. Davis in the west, endeavoring to hold the radical Democrats to the Davis and Bryan standard.

With Smith pulling hard in the east and McAdoo in the west, the Democrats hope to keep their lines steady against the La Follette invasion, so that the Wisconsin independent may gather most of his votes from the Republican party. For the outcome of the election depends almost entirely on how many Republican votes La Follette can take away from what might, under other circumstances, have been expected to be a solid Republican vote for Coolidge. If he takes 50 per cent everywhere and the Democrats hold their own, the pluralities of 1912 might be repeated. But will La Follette get 50 per cent of the Republican vote? The Republican managers insist he will not, and they deny him the prospect of as much as 20 per cent outside of his own strongholds in a few states.

Murder Probe Started In Hollywood Mystery

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—Believing an attempt may have been made to conceal a murder under the appearance of suicide, police here today launched an investigation into the death of Rudolph Malasek, found with a bullet hole in his head and a revolver clutched in his hands on a Hollywood sidewalk. When found, the man, who came here two weeks ago from Long Beach to work as a tailor, had been dead several hours, and police said his body might have been carried to the spot where it was discovered.

The authorities declared they did not believe the body could have been undiscovered on the sidewalk for any length of time.

Educator Goes East For Normal Meeting

Professor W. W. Ruble of 420 North Isabel street, educational secretary of the Pacific Union conference of the Seventh Day Adventist denomination, 603 East Broadway, left Saturday night for Berean Springs, Mich., to attend the normal teachers' conference, held there this week, and at which delegates from all over the United States will be in attendance.

Professor Ruble will be gone until the end of the month, when he will return to hold an educational conference in Glendale, September 1 to 4, for secretaries of the California, Arizona, Nevada and Utah conferences.

URGES CHANGE IN BUSINESS TRACTS

Planning Expert In Favor Of Housing Residential Sections Separate

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—Business lots in small residential tracts running from 25 to 50 per cent of the total, because this particular property is located on traffic highways, were noted on several subdivision plats scanned today by Hugh R. Pomeroy, secretary of the Regional Planning commission. Discussing the subject, he said:

"Traffic highways will attract business only in case there is supporting residential population. And it is infinitely better to have business districts adjacent to, but separate from the main highway, I believe.

Locate Plazas

"You will note that Hollywood Knolls, City Terrace, Palos Verdes and other subdivisions are providing little plazas for business districts, their planners full well knowing that too much traffic is detrimental.

"When I was east I learned that cities in Massachusetts petition the state highway commission to take the through boulevards to the outskirts of town, showing that these people appreciate the necessity for protecting home trade."

NEW CONFERENCE HEAD IS CALLED

Rev. O. O. Bernstein Accepts Call to Presidency of Adventist Body

Rev. O. O. Bernstein, for several years president of the New Jersey conference of the Seventh-day Adventists, with headquarters in Trenton, has accepted a call to the presidency of the Southern California conference of that denomination, and will have his headquarters in Los Angeles. He will succeed Rev. W. M. Adams, who will engage in evangelistic work in this section of the country.

The Southern California conference is the largest local conference in the world and Mr. Bernstein will assume the administrative leadership with an excellent record as the leader of the denomination in New Jersey. During his stay in New Jersey the church has grown in membership and increased in financial standing, and he will assume his duties in Southern California cognizant of the tremendous responsibilities that rest upon the president of this conference, because of the numerous large churches and medical and educational institutions operated here by the denomination.

Mr. Bernstein will have in his jurisdiction the largest church on the Pacific coast, located at Glendale, the thirteen churches in Los Angeles and churches in Pasadena, Long Beach, Sawtelle, San Pedro, Santa Monica, Burbank, Santa Barbara and other cities.

Fire Threatens City's Reservoir On Verdugo Road

Fire at 6:30 o'clock this morning threatened the city reservoir on North Verdugo road, burning out a 150-foot strip of leaves and refuse in between the wire fence guarding the flood control channel.

For nearly two hours Captain Ralph Dodsworth and a crew from Station No. 1 battled the stubborn blaze before quelling it, water being pumped from the reservoir by Engine No. 5. The damage was reported to be slight.

Former Glendalians Will Leave for Texas

Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Willisford, Miss Joy Willisford and Miss Louise Rogers of Houston, Tex., who have been spending two weeks with the Willisfords' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kolts at 914 East Elk street, are to leave tomorrow morning for their Texas home. From Glendale they will motor to Claremont, Riverside and south to San Diego for brief visits before going on home.

Last night Mr. and Mrs. Kolts were hosts at dinner, entertaining besides their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Greeley Kolts and Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Kolts of Los Angeles; and Dr. and Mrs. Andrews of Tucson. Today the Willisfords and Mrs. Kolts were luncheon guests of Mrs. Roy Phillips of 363 Ivy street.

ARTIST RELATES FOREIGN TRAVEL

'The Madonna of the Jungle' Shown at Lecture by Mrs. H. T. Jenkins

"The Madonna of the Jungle" was the title of the original oil painting shown Saturday night by Mrs. Hannah Tempest Jenkins, California artist, in an address on travels in Japan and India at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

Mrs. Jenkins, who was formerly head of the art department at Pomona college, has been sojourning at the sanitarium for several weeks, and during that time has been doing several pictures. When it was suggested that she speak some evening of her foreign travels, she chose to tell of experiences in Japan and India.

A lecturer of note, Mrs. Jenkins is able to paint convincing word pictures of what she has seen, and those who heard her Saturday night were delighted.

In telling of her trip through India she told of a monkey fight at Ahmdebad, and in conclusion showed her painting, "The Madonna of the Jungle," a mother monkey holding her baby in her arms.

In addition, Mrs. Jenkins gave three word-pictures of Japan, telling of visiting the chrysanthemum show in the big wrestling hall in Tokio, and of visiting the Nikko temple.

Mrs. Jenkins leaves today to spend two weeks in Pasadena at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Parsons. Later she will return to her home in Claremont.

NURSES WILL END TRAINING COURSE

Fourteen Will Graduate From Glendale Sanitarium, Monday, Aug. 25

Interest in the graduation of the 1924 class of fourteen nurses from the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital is far reaching, for, in addition to the friendships and associations of these young people in Glendale, they have many others in the eight states and one foreign country they represent.

Graduation time is always a busy time at the Glendale institution and with the new sanitarium building as a center of activity this year, affairs are proving most interesting.

Preliminary to the more formal occasions such as the baccalaureate sermon and commencement exercises, the graduates are being honored by a series of informal affairs.

Nurses Are Guests

Dr. and Mrs. Trueman were hosts at a recent informal evening at their home on Kimlin drive, and Mrs. C. E. Kimlin and Mrs. Daisy Harris were joint hostesses at another affair at the Kimlin home on Vallejo drive.

Last night Dr. Lydia and Elder R. W. Parmele entertained the class and other guests at their home, 1460 East California avenue. In addition to the members of the graduating class, there were present Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Westphal, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Lagourgue, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Harris, Elder and Mrs. R. G. Schaffner, Mrs. Trueman, Dr. M. E. Farnsworth, Dr. L. L. Jones. During the informal time an original class song was sung by Mrs. Lagourgue.

On Tuesday night the graduates are to be honored at a banquet given by the junior class at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. There are twenty-three juniors who will be hosts.

Dr. and Mrs. Westphal are to entertain the seniors Thursday afternoon and evening in Brookside park, Pasadena.

List of Graduates

The graduates and their homes are: Leona Cadwallader, Turlock, Calif.; Jeanne Dupes, Bakersfield, Calif.; Irene Giles, Rhinelander, Wis.; Myrtle Hanks, La Jota, Calif.; Margaret Jackson, New York City; Marjorie Kimlin, Glendale; Mildred Mundall, Phoenix, Ariz.; Daisy Randolph, Yakima, Wash.; Adeline Renius, Sioux City, Iowa; Clara Schafer, Lodi, Calif.; Marguerite Squier, Van Nuys, Calif.; Roland Christian, Boise, Idaho; Alfred Cott, London, Eng.; Iru Martin, Wirt, Okla..

More formal events of the graduation are announced as: Pastor Philip Knox of Long Beach is to preach the baccalaureate sermon next Saturday morning, August 23; the graduation exercises will be held Monday night, August 25, in the Glendale Union High school auditorium; and the annual alumni banquet will be held Tuesday night, August 26, at the new sanitarium building.

Cyclist Fractures Ankle In Wreck

William Blanke of 329 North Indiana street, Los Angeles, suffered a fractured ankle at 5:30 o'clock this morning when his motorcycle collided with that of H. S. Truesdell of 1204 Spazier avenue. The accident occurred at the intersection of San Fernando Road and Grand View avenue.

A truck driven by Frank Huffman of Sunland collided with one driven by Frank Lomanco of Los Angeles, at 6 o'clock last night, at the intersection of San Fernando Road and Los Feliz Road. The drivers escaped injury but both trucks were damaged.

Sealskins, Jewels Taken by Burglars

The house occupied by J. A. Leslie at 704 Piedmont Park was entered last night by burglars and a rich haul made. According to a report filed at police headquarters, the stolen articles include a sealskin coat, sealskin cape, gold watch, engagement ring, garnet ring, signet ring and other articles of jewelry and wearing apparel.

Otto Lassen of 3128 Division street, Los Angeles, offers a reward of $25 for information leading to the recovery of a light touring car, motor No. 2297492, 1919 model, stolen Saturday night from outside the Gateway theatre.

Girl Scouts In Camp At Hollywood Beach

Glendale Girl Scouts and captains formally opened summer camp at 7 o'clock this morning at Hollywood beach, three miles from Oxnard. Reports from the camp this morning state that the campers arrived safely last night and were settled in a fine location, protected from the wind. There are 100 girls with captains and other adults in camp, where they are to enjoy activities until August 30.

TOWMAN RETURNS FROM AIR CAMP

Auto Club Representative at Rockwell Field With Reserve Squadron

M. B. Towman, local representative of the Automobile Club of Southern California and a resident of the Elks club here, returned to this city last night after two weeks with the 478th pursuit reserve squadron of the United States air service, which was called to active duty at Rockwell field, North Island, San Diego.

Mr. Towman rates an observer, and spent twelve hours in the air, including flights from Clover field, Santa Monica, to San Diego and return, also an observation cross-country trip to March field, Riverside, and return from Rockwell field.

Practice 'Safety First'

Most of the work done by the squadron, which is one of four units of the reserve force, was landings, take-offs and other maneuvers to keep the pilots in practice. Despite the fact that as many as a score of planes were in the air at one time no accidents were reported by the civilian reservists.

On Friday the 91st division officers and personnel of Rockwell field entertained the reserve officers with a "Goodbye party," which was the only social function of the two weeks' outing, according to Mr. Towman, who was the only flier from Glendale privileged to attend the camp. He expects to have another week's vacation later in the season, deer hunting.

VICTORIOUS LIFE IS TOPIC OF C. E.

Outdoor Meeting at Oakridge Is Held by Members Of Local Group

"The Victorious Life" was taken as the theme of the outdoor meeting of the Intermediate Christian Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church, held last night, Sunday, August 17, at 5:30 o'clock. The meeting took the form of a Victory Circle, as a reminder of the main feature of the Mt. Hermon summer conference of Christian Endeavor, which a number of the members were privileged to attend the first of this month.

Howard L. Brown, superintendent of the group and former state Christian Endeavor president, was leader of the program of song, worship and testimony, which took place on Cypress hill, Cpyress street, Oakridge.

Following a program of song, including a vocal duet by Mildred Sooy and Dorothy Schenk, the pastor, Rev. W. E. Edmonds, spoke, stressing the value of taking heed to the call of the Holy Spirit. There followed the testimonies, resolutions and recounting of incidents in their own lives by many of the members of the group. Howard L. Brown then spoke, telling of the value of victory to the Christian.

At the twilight hour Rev. Edmonds conducted a decision service. The Victory Circle has been adopted as a regular institution of the organization and members are looking forward to its being held in the same manner every year.

WOOD IN CHARGE AT C. C. OFFICES

New Secretary Will Confer With Board Regarding Program of Work

Howard I. Wood, the recently appointed secretary of the Chamber of Commerce assumed his duties this morning and is familiarizing himself with the details of the office work.

Before making any statement regarding his plans for the conduct of the office, Mr. Wood will confer with the directors regarding the policies to be followed and the program that the organization is devoting its energies to, so that he may be able to render the greatest service, and work in harmony with the board.

Mr. Wood and his family arrived in Glendale Saturday, and are now seeking a residence where they may make their home. They expect to be settled within the next two days.

MINOR SURGERY

Miss Lois Christian, an employe of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, underwent minor surgery this morning at that institution.

SLIGHT OPERATION

D. H. Butler of Tonopah, Nev., underwent a minor surgical operation this morning at the Glendale Research hospital.

WELCOME AWAITS SINGING LEADER

Hollywood Bowl Patrons to Greet Hugo Kirchhofer On Friday Night

Hugo Kirchhofer, popular song leader, will be welcomed home to Hollywood after a long eastern visit by thousands of men and women who have sung under his leadership, at a gigantic "sing" in the Hollywood Bowl, on Friday, August 22. All community singers in and near Los Angeles, and surrounding towns, are cordially invited by Mrs. J. J. Carter, president of the Hollywood Bowl association, to be present, promptly at 8 p. m., in order to join in the demonstration for the beloved song director.

The "sing" will have still another significance, for it will take a form never before attempted in Southern California, and perhaps never in this country. Believing in having the people themselves participate in their national music, Arthur Farwell, the Pasadena "musical prophet," has written a symphony calling for 100 instruments and 10,000 voices. Those who attend the Bowl next Friday will have the unique experience of being part of a huge chorus for which the Bowl Symphony orchestra will play the accompaniment. All that is necessary is to know the first and third verses of "Old Black Joe," and Mr. Farwell, Hugo Kirchhofer and the Symphony orchestra will do the rest.

Hertz to Conduct

The regular symphony concert will follow the singing, with Alfred Hertz in the conductor's stand. Now that only two weeks of the beautiful "symphonies under the stars" remain to be played in this season, Bowl audiences are growing larger and larger as the realization comes of how soon the theatre will be still and empty on these summer evenings.

The Bowl is at the junction of Highland and Cahuenga avenues.

Arrange Program for aPtterson Park Meet

J. Arthur Myers, director of the Glendale Community Symphony orchestra, is arranging an interesting program for the open air concert Friday night in Patterson Avenue park. The concert is to begin at 8 o'clock and will be open to the public.

Movie Director Calls On Former Cameraman

Sidney Olcott, noted motion picture director, paid a surprise visit Saturday night to Al Cawood, manager of the Egyptian Village cafe. Several years ago Mr. Cawood was head cameraman for the old Kalem company, and during that time made many pictures with Mr. Olcott directing. The two men had not met for ten years.

Included in Mr. Olcott's party of friends who visited Mr. Cawood at the Egyptian Village cafe Saturday night were Pola Negri and Alice Hollister. Mr. Olcott directed Gloria Swanson in "The Humming Bird," Marion Davies in "Little Old New York" and "Monsieur Beaucaire" with Rudolph Valentino, in addition to many others.

Mr. Olcott left Los Angeles Sunday night for New York, where he will remain ten weeks and then return to direct Pola Negri in her next picture. Some of the rooms of the Egyptian Village will be used in this picture, Mr. Olcott said.

Railroad Reduces Rates for Legion

Special rate tickets for members of the American Legion, the auxiliary of the American Legion, dependent children of World War veterans, and widows of deceased soldiers, who will attend the national convention of the American Legion at St. Paul, September 15 to 19, will be on sale September 4 to 14, with return limit October 15, according to word received today by Arthur J. Rehwold, traveling passenger agent for the Southern Pacific, with headquarters at 106 North Brand boulevard.

The railroad is making a special rate of one-way fare for the round trip for all who desire to attend the convention. The fare from Glendale to St. Paul and return, under the special rate, is $75.99, Mr. Rehwold said. Tickets will be sold only on presentation of certificates issued by the American Legion, he said, and optional return route may be chosen, with stopovers at authorized points.

FAMILY BOASTS 24

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—Mr. and Mrs. George Andrew Toombs and their twenty-two living children are local candidates for the state's largest family, it was revealed today by the Chamber of Commerce.

BEST EQUIPPED TRAINS STOP HERE

Southern Pacific Will Make Sunset and Golden State Limiteds 'Last Word'

Officials of the Southern Pacific railroad are anxiously awaiting the arrival of new equipment which will make the Sunset Limited and the Golden States Limited, two of the company's crack through trains, the best equipped trains in the United States, according to word received by Arthur J. Rehwold, traveling passenger agent for the company, with headquarters at 106 North Brand boulevard.

"These trains will be specially constructed and new throughout," Mr. Rehwold said. "Some of the special features will include roomy club cars, shower baths, barber shops, beauty parlors, suit pressing and valet service, manicurist, maid service, radio concert equipment and other articles of modern equipment, making these trains the last word in transportation comfort and convenience."

Like Hotel on Wheels

The new trains will not carry tourist sleepers or day coaches, according to the information received by Mr. Rehwold. Prices for travel will remain the same, it is said, and the trains will be first class hotels on wheels. The exact dates for the inauguration of this service have not been fixed, but the new trains are expected to be ready about October 1.

The Sunset Limited runs to El Paso, with through cars for Chicago, while the Golden State Limited is the company's through train to New Orleans, connecting with steamships at that port for Cuba, New York and South America, Mr. Rehwold said. Both trains stop in Glendale.

Banquet at Close of Advertisers' Meeting

Forty members of the Mail Advertisers' Society of California will hold a banquet tonight at the Egyptian Village, starting at 7 o'clock. The banquet will bring to a close a day devoted to business of the organization.

Twin Cities, Minneapolis has a new street car, equipped with roller bearings, making it practically noiseless.

INDEX TO CO-OPERATIVE DEPARTMENT

PAGE 6 OF THIS ISSUE OF THE EVENING NEWS

Of course when you want to buy merchandise of any kind you are anxious to patronize a Glendale dealer. When you wish to employ professional skill it is your desire to secure a local man. When repair work is needed it is to your advantage to have the work done by mechanics near home.

The object of this index column is to refer you to the CO-OPERATIVE DEPARTMENT on Page 6 of this issue, where you will find listed a large number of merchants, tradesmen and professional men who are real boosters for Glendale. While the Community Loyalty Section will appear in The Evening News one day every week, yet readers are advised to cut it out and hold it for reference for the purpose of ascertaining names and locations of business firms in Glendale.

Daily Greeting To News Readers

When we turn away from some duty, or some fellow creature, saying that our hearts are too sick and sore with some great yearning of our own, we may often sever the line on which a divine message was coming to us. We shut out the man, and we shut out the angel who had sent him on to open the door.
—Edward Garrett.

RESULTS OF SAFETY WEEK

The agitation and discussion of safety methods engendered by Safety Week, as inaugurated and conducted by The Glendale Evening News, had results that were worthy of the effort. If this discussion of safe driving could be kept up in the homes, in the business houses and on the streets of Glendale as it was last week, it would tend to keep the number of accidents down to the minimum. Most automobile accidents are the result of trying to violate the simple law of physics that two bodies cannot occupy the same space at the same time. Keeping in mind this law would tend to materially reduce the number of accidents.

On the average road there is sufficient space to allow cars to meet and pass without interference. Thoughtlessness and carelessness are the prime causes when cars collide. So, the more the subject of safe driving can be discussed and impressed upon the minds of drivers, the fewer accidents there will be.

It will be only a short time until automobile clubs, automobile dealers, automobile drivers and the general public will unite in insisting that this subject of operating an automobile be introduced into the public schools and be made a part of the elementary education of every boy and girl. Suitable text books will be prepared and this course made compulsory.

The time is coming very soon, at the rate we are going now, when nearly everyone will be driving a car. The danger of accidents increases with every new car and every new driver that appear on the road, so that this method of training the driver in childhood will be both practical and necessary. In this course the child will have inculcated in him the importance of care in driving as a means of protecting and saving human life.

Safety Week was the means of lessening of accidents. It may, therefore, have been the means of saving a life or more than one life. Let us keep up the discussion of safe driving and at the same time make Glendale renowned as the city that is courteous to visiting drivers.

TOO MANY LAWS

In the near future one of the features of the political campaign of the man who seeks a legislative office will be his promise to discourage useless legislation and to do away with obsolete and silly laws now on the statute books. If we lose our respect for law, the very corner-stone of our government is gone; and the multiplicity of laws and the senselessness of some of them threaten to bring about such a condition.

A man who would introduce or vote for a law regulating the size of the bedsheets has a pretty small mentality and a limited conception of the duties of a legislator. And, there are thousands of laws in this country equally senseless and useless, passed for the purpose of satisfying a grudge against someone.

According to Arthur Train, the well known fiction writer and former attorney, legislation is making us a nation of lawbreakers, and Mr. Train says he does not refer to prohibition, which is incorporated in the constitution. In an interview in a current magazine, Mr. Train says the number of our laws probably mount into the millions, and that almost any honest citizen is liable to prosecution and possible imprisonment most of the time. He says the maxim, "Ignorance of the law excuses no one," is pure theory, for it is not possible for anyone to know all the laws. Says Mr. Train:

"Let me give you some figures. Out of the sessions of Congress and of our state legislatures in the forty-eight states, there annually go onto the statute books upwards of 15,000 laws—and many of the state legislatures meet only once in two years!

"The number of new laws is growing constantly—covering every subject on the earth, in the heavens above and the waters beneath. At that, Congress has not yet succeeded in regulating the heavens properly, and we lag far behind other nations in our air laws.

"Nor does this say anything of municipal legislation, ordinances and regulations of every kind under the sun. Their number is literally legion. And then there are the interpretations and rulings of government and state departments.

"An attempt to enforce these never-meant-to-be-enforced statutes would result in hopeless chaos. Riot, bloodshed, and governmental paralysis would follow inevitably."

AN INTEREST IN OUR COUNTRY

"Where your treasure is, there will your heart be also," the Bible says. If more people had an interest in the country there would be less dissatisfaction and more patriotism, and the best form of material treasure is a home.

When we own the land we stand on and the roof that covers us we have an interest in our country that awakens our sense of responsibility and urges us to protect and cherish that of which we are a part.

Our interest in our country may be very small, a narrow strip of ground, a tiny shack, but the size of it is of no importance. Often the smaller and simpler the home the more dear and valuable it is.

An interest in our country in the shape of a home awakens in us a sense of partnership and citizenship which is the real foundation of patriotism. We have something that is material, substantial and tangible to work for and to protect.

A nation of home owners is not a nation torn by revolution and strife.

WE OUGHT TO GET ALONG

Isn't this an awful country, with high taxes, oil scandals, political party conventions, short skirts and bobbed hair? Isn't it almost impossible to make a decent living here? Isn't it awful to be able to afford only one car? The country is going to perdition. Don't you hear such wails every day?

Ask the next fellow you hear making such complaints why there are 30,000 Chinamen waiting in Cuba to be smuggled into the United States and willing to pay anyone who will assist them. Ask him why Japan is so bitter about the Japanese Exclusion Act. Ask him why the nations of Southern Europe made such a howl when Congress passed the Immigration bill.

With Europeans and Orientals whose languages and customs are so different from ours so eager to get into this country, we who were born here and know the ropes ought to be able to keep the wolf from the door at least.

The mother who used to be expert with the flat-iron now has a daughter who is expert with the mid-iron.

Brevity may be the soul of wit, but there's nothing witty about a short life.

What Power Means

By DR. FRANK CRANE

At Wembley, the other day, the Prince of Wales opened the first World Power Conference and welcomed thirty-nine states of the British Empire and foreign countries.

Formerly the strength of a nation was reckoned by its man power, but, more and more, it is coming to be reckoned by mechanical power used by man. The object of the conference is to exchange ideas on the subject of power.

For Great Britain, power means coal, which is mined on the island, or oil, which is imported. For the colonies, Canada, for instance, power means waterfall, as it is estimated that 23,000,000 horse power is available for Canada. India and New Zealand have similar resources.

The power of states in the future is to be reckoned, not by men, but by various forms, such as waterfall, coal and oil, which they can command.

In this sense the population of the United States is greater than that of China, for, while China has some 400,000,000 of people, it is lacking in horse power and power available from natural resources.

Always the strength of man is to be computed by the natural forces he controls rather than by his inherent ability.

In Italy an attempt has been made to use the volcanic heat and to maintain with it steam in boilers and to carry out chemical processes, but nothing practical has come of it.

An engineer, before the war, proposed to obtain power from British coal mines by setting them on fire and pumping down air, thus generating great heat, which he would have utilized in running gigantic electric stations.

Other projects have used the tidal waves and the sunshine, but they have not been brought as yet into any practical use.

The subject indeed is one which opens inviting vistas, but has not yet been fully explored.

Suffice it to say that the nations that can control the greatest amount of artificial resources, or, rather, natural resources, and bring them under the control of man will be the greatest.

Horoscope

One of the rarely lucky days has dawned, according to astrology. Mercury and Jupiter are in strongly benefic aspect. Venus is adverse.

This is the time to push all business affairs, making new connections and extending operations.

It is an auspicious time to advertise, for newspapers are to wield even more power than formerly.

Extra enterprise on the part of editors and publishers is foretold, for competition with unseen forces is to be keen.

There is a sign making for development of the radio to uses hardly guessed at by the public.

Financial matters are subject to a direction of the stars that is on the whole favorable, although money stringency may be experienced in certain quarters.

Banks are to gain in business scope and even to increase in power wherever their relation to the general public is concerned, astrologers predict.

All the aspects this month continue to be inimical to general harmony, for the planetary influences are complex and diverse.

As has been prophesied, dissensions, suspicions of many sorts and intrigues which are widespread will distinguish organizations of every sort, social, political and religious.

Lawlessness will continue, if the stars are wisely interpreted. Crimes against women and children, so often foretold, will be so numerous that at last uprisings of the people in various cities will take place.

Astrologers declare that failure of established systems of government, city, state and national, will bring about new conditions which will overthrow old traditions.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a prosperous year in business. They should avoid all lines of litigation and should be unusually devoted in their friendly relations.

Children born on this day will be generally lucky all through life in all probability. These subjects of Leo often have Virgo characteristics and may be rarely talented.

More than 200,000 persons visited the American Museum of Natural History in New York City last year.

An American insurance company is reducing its burglary rate 10 per cent where good watch dogs are kept.

Today's Poem

"WHAT DO WE PLANT?"

What do we plant when we plant the tree?
We plant the ship, which will cross the sea.
We plant the mast to carry the sails;
We plant the planks to withstand the gales—
The keel; the keelson, the beam, the knee;
We plant the ship when we plant the tree.

What do we plant when we plant the tree?
We plant the houses for you and me.
We plant the rafters, the shingles the floors,
We plant the studding, the lath, the doors,
The beams, and siding, all parts that be,
We plant the house when we plant the tree.

What do we plant when we plant the tree?
A thousand things that we daily see;
We plant the spire that out-towers the crag,
We plant the staff for our country's flag,
We plant the shade, from the hot sun free;
We plant all these when we plant the tree.

—Henry Abbey.

Smiles

FULLY EXPLAINED

Walter C. Tindall who shocked New Jersey with his exposure of scandalous stag parties, said the other day:

"Well, human nature is human nature, after all. There was once a venerable old Quaker who left behind him when he died a diary in twenty-seven volumes. It was the record of a blameless, an almost holy life, and page after page was filled with the most elevating reflections.

"Very frequently in the margin of the diary the odd phrase 'T. and F.' appeared. Pages recording truly saintly days would have 'T. and F.' on their margin time and time again.

"The venerable old man's heirs finally discovered somehow the meaning of the cryptic phrase. It meant:

"Tempted and fell."

Who's Who

It is generally believed that Frank L. Polk, formerly under secretary of state in the Wilson administration, will be secretary to John W. Davis, should the Democratic presidential nominee be returned the victor at the polls this fall.

Polk, a warm personal friend of Davis, will play a leading part in the latter's campaign as assistant secretary of the campaign and Davis' personal aide.

Polk acquired his first experience in official Washington circles when he was named counsellor to the state department in 1915 by President Wilson. Four years later he, was named under secretary of state. While counsellor Polk drew the title of "Lansing's legal eyes and mind" because of his invaluable aid to the then secretary of state.

For a period of six months he served as acting secretary of state. He was head of the American peace delegation to Paris in 1919.

Polk comes of fighting stock. His grandfather, Leonidas Polk, fought in the Civil war, as did Davis' father. The grandfather was known as "the fighting bishop," he having left the Protestant Episcopal bishopric in Louisiana to accept a commission in Jefferson Davis' army. He rose to the rank of lieutenant general before meeting his death at Pine Mountain. Polk is a native of New York city and was born September 13, 1871.

The Ravings Of a Grouch

To me, some of the tactics of the candidates for office and of those who are backing them and managing their campaigns are very childish and beneath the dignity of men of high standing. Albert J. Beveridge tells how, in his boyhood, he was taught that all Democrats were knaves and scoundrels. He was taken to Republican meetings where he heard fiery orations vilifying and denouncing the Democrats. One day a neighbor took him to a Democrat rally and he was shocked to learn that this was in all respects like the Republican meetings he had attended except that the Republicans were the subject of attack.

If seems to me if I were a candidate I would state my qualifications and my principles plainly and simply to the voters and let the result take care of itself. If I were really competent and sincere I believe this method would win me both respect and votes. Of course if a candidate is attacked he must defend himself. If I found it necessary to refute the charges of my opponent or to criticise him and his principles and policies, I think even this could be done in a dignified way.

I admire a man who will defend his party and his principles and who is aggressive in his efforts to win, but I do not think a man gains any votes or any confidence by making statements about his opponent that both he and his hearers know to be exaggerated.

In the keynote speech at the Democratic convention it was said: "In every issue the president has quibbled, in every fight he has floundered, and that he stands forlorn, desolate, pilloried by his own party, and that his administration will show you a foreign policy if you will show it an oil well; that oil has become the open sesame to power. Crooked business needs only to gesture, or special privilege to wink to make this administration understand and do." Equally bitter and untrue statements are made by the Republicans and so the campaign of vilification is carried on. Both parties lose sight of their principles, to a greater or less extent, while they indulge in personalities and recriminations.

This method of campaigning which tends to make the most honest and efficient office-holder or candidate appear as a criminal is harming the country, for many good men who might otherwise seek office prefer private life rather than indulge in a mud-slinging contest to win office.

FREE WILL HELPS FIGHT WITH SIN

Mawkish Sentimentality for Criminals Scored by Rev. B. J. Darneille

Taking his text from I Corinthians 10:13, "There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man; but God is faithful who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able," Rev. B. J. Darneille, preaching at St. Mark's Episcopal church yesterday morning, declared that God has endowed us with the gift of free will which we are to exercise in resisting the temptations of the world and that we are not to place the responsibility for our shortcomings on the doctrine fo predestination.

"God has given us the power to overcome temptation," he asserted, "but we must exercise that power, and the only way we can give service to our fellowmen is by the exercise of the divine attribute of free will."

Mr. Darneille scored the "mawkish sentimentality that is thrown around so many of the criminals of today as one of the worst influences in the life of the nation," and he also condemned the facility with which the combination of wealth and an insanity plea may foil the carrying out of justice and the punishment of the criminal.

Klan Rioters Get 30-Day Sentences

HAVERHILL, Mass., Aug. 18.—The eight members of the Ku Klux Klan and five anti-Klansmen who were arrested in connection with the Klan meeting at Groveland July 31, on a charge of disturbing the peace, were each sentenced to thirty days in the house of correction today. All appealed and were held in bonds.

RALLY IN NINTH DEFEATS SOX, 9-8

Chanslor - Canfield - Midway Oilers Nose Out Local Team In Final

A rally in the ninth, which netted five runs, enabled the Chanslor-Canfield-Midway Oilers to beat the Glendale White Sox yesterday, 9 to 8. It was a game marked by hard hitting and sensational plays, and thrilled the 3000 fans who gathered at the San Fernando Road ball park to witness the fray.

Hoffacker, pitching ace of the Bay District league, was on the mound for the visitors, while Reiger hurled for the locals. Hoffacker walked three men, while Reiger issued only one pass. The honors were even on strikeouts, six apiece, while they again shared honors on hits, each side getting thirteen.

Reiger had the edge on Hoffacker in base running. Both men were at bat five times and each got three hits. Hoffacker fanned twice, died on first, and got as far as third base twice. Reiger hit into a double the first time up, singled and scored each time for the next three at bats, and ended the game by fouling out to Copeland.

Barrage in Fourth

The Oilers started the scoring when Ramsey crossed the rubber in the second, after singling to center, taking second on Reiger's error, and racing home on Faust's single. They scored again in the sixth, Hathaway getting a double, Scherf slamming out a double to score Hathaway, and Copeland hitting through shortstop, scoring Scherf. Another tally was added in the eighth when Copeland scored after being hit by a pitched ball, sent to second on Hoffacker's single, and home on Carroll's drive to left.

The Sox started their scoring in the fifth inning. Sawyer walked. Shellenback laid down a bunt and beat the throw. Orsatt poled out a long drive over right field fence, scoring Sawyer and Shellenbach ahead of him. Hirigoyen flied out to Scherf. Jones was hit by pitched ball. Reiger drive one to center, Jones taking third on the play. Reiger stole second and Jones started to come home but was cut off by Scherf's throw to Copeland, who relayed it to Parker. Young's single scored Reiger, Young taking second on the attempt to cut off the score.

Dorman's drive to left scored Young. Dorman stole second but died there when Shields hit to Scherf.

Two more runs were added to the Sox score in the sixth. Reiger started things by singling to right. Young was hit by pitched ball. Dorman flied out to Scherf. Shields smashed one to Faust and was caught at first, Reiger going to third and Young to second. Sawyer hit to right, scoring Reiger and Young. He stole second and took third on Shellenbach's drive, but died on bases when Orsatt hit to Parker and was thrown out at first. Reiger scored again in the seventh when he singled with two down and was safe on Young's drive to center field fence.

That Fatal Ninth

Everybody on the Oilers team batted in the ninth and when the smoke cleared, five runs had been counted. Parker, first man up, was safe on Shields' error. Hathaway safe on fielder's choice Parker going to second. Scherf lifted one over Sawyer's head, scoring Parker. Ramey was hit by pitched ball, filling the bases. Copeland fouled out to Shields. Faust hit to center, scoring Hathaway and Scherf, and taking second on the attempt to catch Ramey at third. Hoffacker hit to center, scoring Ramey. Carroll smashed one to center, scoring Faust, but was caught at second, Dorman to Sawyer. Lewis was out, Jones to Shellenbach, the Oilers protesting that the ball had hit in foul territory, but Umpire Page called it fair, and the inning ended.

The White Sox were handicapped by the absence of Sullivan, who is on the sick list. Jones substituted for Sullivan, with Frilot batting for Jones in the ninth.

NATIONAL DOUBLES RACE NOW STARTED

Johnston and Griffin Will Meet Murray and Niles In Feature Match

CHESTNUT HILLS, BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 18.—The national doubles championship opened here today with a list of entrants sounding like a roll call of delegates to a world court or League of Nations. Among the countries represented are Mexico, China, France, Canada, Australia and South Africa.

The feature match of the day was that between William M. Johnston and C. J. Griffin vs. R. Lindley Murray and N. W. Niles.

Gerald L. Patterson and Pat O'Hara Wood, the Australian stars, who last week eliminated the Japanese team in the Davis cup play, met K. H. Behr and Nat Mathey.

Vincent Richards and Francis T. Hunter or the Frenchmen, Rene La Coste and Jean Porotora, are picked by tennis enthusiasts here as the most likely pairs to stop the Australians.

Harris & Hull Beaten By Gordon & Harrison

Gordon & Harrison handed Harris & Hull their first defeat of the season when the local aggregation was overwhelmed Saturday by a 9 to 6 score. The game was played at Gilmore field, and the victory of the Gordon & Harrison team surprised many. Sawyer connected with a couple doubles, while McBean and Sisson of the winners hit extra base bingles. Blewett of the losers got the only triple of the day. LaBelle was touched for nine hits, struck out seven and walked two. Carey, hurling for the winners, was touched for eleven hits, struck out eleven and walked six.

Baseball Managers to Plan for Celebration

Another large turnout is expected at tonight's meeting of the Southern California Baseball Managers' association to be held at Independent Order of Foresters' hall, 955 South Olive street, according to Chairman Hennesey.

A full report on the big stag party to be staged by the semi-pro magnates a week from tonight will be made by Lorin Ury, Grant Leischner and Speed Getchell.

The Cubs beat the Phillies 2 to 1, Blake outpitching Oeschger.

TIGERS TAKE TWO, EVEN UP SERIES

Force Seattle Into Second Place; Angels Remain In Last Place

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—Vernon won a pair from Seattle yesterday and evened the series which is being completed this afternoon at Washington park by the two teams battling for first division honors.

Courtney won the first game for the Tigers, 7 to 5, while Thomas and Ludolph held the visitors in the second, 9 to 5. All of which meant Seattle took second place to the league-leading Seals, but Oakland winning six out of seven games from Portland gave the Acorns third place and Vernon fourth.

Sutherland, Plummer, Williams and Stueland were called upon to pitch for Seattle in the opener, but failed to stem the tide. Dell, Sutherland, Jones and Williams tried their hand in the afternoon contest and failed again. Bowman's homer in Seattle's eighth of the finals unnerved Thomas so Essick sent in the Wee one for safety's sake.

Los Angeles easily maintained its place in the cellar by losing both games yesterday to Sacramento, 3-2 and 3-0. It made four straight wins for the Solons after dropping the first three games of the series.

The stinging Bees won the morning game from the sassy Seals, 17 to 1, but after the Salt Lake air warmed up the Bay City boys won, 8 to 4.

Oakland in the Bay won both battles from the Portland Ducks with Krause holding 'em, 5 to 1, and Kuzz engaging in a pitchers' duel with Keef ending, 3 to 2.

Vernon will have easy pickings with Portland here this week while Seattle and Oakland will fight for position. San Francisco takes on the Solons and Los Angeles is in Salt Lake.

NATIONAL SINGLES TITLE IS PUZZLE

Court Followers Are More Worried About Match Than Davis Cup

By WALTER CAMP
Special correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Who will win the national singles tennis championship in tennis? This question seems uppermost in the minds of tennis enthusiasts just now.

The Davis cup situation seems to cause less interest, for, with Tilden and Johnston once more settled upon as our representatives in the singles, the choice of two other men for the doubles from a group including the Kinseys, Richards, Williams, Hunter, Washburn and Griffin does not seem to stir much speculation, at least not just now.

But there is a wide divergence of opinion as to whether Bill Johnston is going to threaten Big Bill Tilden in the national. Johnston has had some upsets and, on the other hand, has shown flashes of his old form, plus greater stamina, and it was this latter quality that he needed upon former occasions.

Others in Race

And there are other threatening men whom Johnston will have to pass, just who being dependent upon the draw. But Snodgrass, Richards, Norris Williams, the Kinseys and Hunter are all capable of flashing great opposition.

To returan to Johnston, it would seem that when the issue arrives at Forest Hills, the question of his physical condition will be the most important factor. Little Bill has been taking excellent care of himself and not overdoing it in tennis. He may take the courts for the championship with more stamina than he has possessed in supreme tests in the past few years. In that case he will be formidable for any opponent.

Willie Hunter Gets $1000 Golf Trophy

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 18.—Willie Hunter, amateur golfer and holder of the 1921 British title, turned in a card of 142 for 36 holes and was today declared the winner of the two-day open amateur tournament played over the Coronado Country club golf course on Saturday, and winner of the $1000 cup offered by the late A. B. Spreckels. Close on the heels of Hunter came Jack Tarrant of Los Angeles, with a total score of 146, with George von Elm, also of Los Angeles, with a total of 147 for third place. Nelson Barker, local county champion, was fourth, with a total of 156.

TAGGING THE BASES

Hollis Thurston held the Yankees to four hits, but the champions won, 2 to 1, and increased their lead to a game and a half.

Walter Johnson allowed the Tigers only four hits and one run, the Senators converting their 16 hits into eight runs. McNeeley, recruit center fielder obtained from Sacramento, featured in the Senators' batting, getting four clean singles in five times up. Washington is now a game and a half behind Detroit.

The Dodgers took two from the Reds, Ehrhardt and Tiny Osborne beating Rixey and Donohoe, 9 to 4 and 8 to 5.

The Braves turned on the Cardinals, scoring four runs in the seventh for a 4 to 2 victory.

Brazill Learns What It Is to 'Lose Your Grip'

OAKLAND, Aug. 18.—The name of Oakland and "jinx" are synonymous to Frank Brazill.

The new manager of the Portland Beavers, who lost six out of seven starts here, topped the disastrous series by losing his grip containing personal effects and baseball supplies as he dashed for the depot after his team had dropped a double-header Sunday.

The police are looking for the bag, but say they are unable to do anything about six games that were lost.

Brazill and his Ducks play Vernon in Los Angeles this week.

PROPERTY VALUE SHOWS INCREASE

Burbank's Assets Are Almost Double Figures for Previous Year

BURBANK, Aug. 18.—The annual report of the taxable property in Burbank shows an increase of nearly $5,000,000, or almost double that of last year. The report was sent to City Clerk Webster by County Auditor H. A. Payne, showing the amount of taxable property.

The total non-operative value of Burbank, which is the sum on which taxes are levied, for 1924-25 is $11,286,055. Last year it was $6,598,070. The value of Burbank real estate is more than doubled, while the improvements are increased by a large per cent. The figures relative to the valuation of the city of Burbank, as sent by the auditor, are as follows:

	1924-25	1923-24
Value of real estate	$7,037,590	$3,337,705
Value of improvements thereon	2,679,910	1,912,100
Net value of personal property	1,300,120	1,138,200
Unsecured personal property	288,245	215,855
Money and solvent credits	155,400	113,860
Total non-operative value	$11,286,055	$6,598,070

The operative value, which includes the telephone company and other such public concerns, and the railroad values, have not yet been received by Mr. Webster.

Back From North

City Treasurer and Mrs. W. E. Smith and four children have returned from a two weeks' vacation trip which they spent up around San Francisco and Sacramento. A week of the time was spent at the home of Mrs. O. W. Ruggles, aunt of Mrs. Smith, at Fair Oaks.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Doolittle and daughter participated in a picnic gathering in the mountains in the vicinity of Eagle Rock in which there were about thirty-five people from Glendale and Eagle Rock. One of the enjoyable features of the occasion was a wienie roast which provided one of the important ingredients of the picnic dinner.

Miss Tillie Perduna and sister, Miss Anna Perduna, of Angeleno avenue, are leaving for New York by way of the Panama canal on the steamer Manchuria. The bookings were made through the Talk-Trade-Travel company of this city.

Girl Scouts Return From Camp Vacation

LA CRESCENTA, Aug. 18.—The last of the Girl Scouts have returned home tired but enthusiastic over their week in camp at Goff Island. Scout Captain Hansen asks the following, who so generously helped the girls provision and reach their camp, to accept the thanks of the La Crescenta Girl Scouts.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Brown of West Montrose avenue, George Selby, George Charbaneau of the Montrose Furniture company, Mrs. Ward Van Duesen, Dr. Karr and G. Knox.

The work the girls are now busy with is that of making their regulation Scout uniforms, and each girl is to make her own. Scout Captain Hansen has helped the older girls cut out their garments, the material being purchased from Scout headquarters in New York. The uniforms will carry the prescribed number of Scout buttons and those who have won merit badges will have them attached.

As the exchequer of the La Crescenta Girl Scouts is badly depleted, the hiring of the truck taking practically all of the funds, the members are expecting to give a play or a bazaar to raise funds.

Kiwanis Clubs Will Unite to Give Dance

TUJUNGA, Aug.18.—An inter-club dance will be given next Saturday, August 23, at the Oakmont Country club, by eight Kiwanis clubs of the San Fernando valley and adjacent communities, according to announcements made by A. C. Stover, president of the Tujunga club. The club will include Tujunga, Glendale, Van Nuys, Hollywood, Burbank, Lankershim, San Fernando and Eagle Rock City. This will be one of the big affairs of the season for the Kiwanis clubs.

Chamber of Commerce Will Elect Officers

MONTROSE, Aug. 18.—Election of officers will be the main business at the next meeting of the Montrose Chamber of Commerce, September 2, at the Montrose school house. The program for the next year will be outlined. President J. L. Brown, president of the chamber during the two years of its existence, has announced his intention to retire from office in the organization.

Culver City Tries New Traffic Remedy

CULVER CITY, Aug. 18.—Motorists will be warned and not tagged for minor infractions of the motor vehicle laws here, according to the police.

But the motor offices will keep a record of those whom they warn for the next few weeks, and learn if they profit by the courtesy extended.

Otherwise, the system of fines will be resorted to.

De Palma Wins Feature Race at Culver City

CULVER CITY, Aug. 18.—Ralph DePalma, speed king of the dirt tracks, won the feature race here yesterday with Eddie Hearne and himself narrowly avoiding a smashup when part of Babe Stapp's engine smashed the Italian's windshield. Fred Frame followed Hearne for third money.

Pop Evans of Glendale, in the five-mile dash, cut 10 seconds from Jerry Wonderlich's time in the first race. Wonderlich also won a ten-mile parade in which all of the other drivers literally eliminated their cars with motor trouble. It was a great day for the 18,000 speed fans at the new course.

MEMORIAL FOR MORAN

CINCINNATI, Aug. 18.—A memorial tablet in honor of the late Patrick J. Moran, manager of the Reds, will be unveiled at Redland field at the New York game this afternoon by Judge K. M. Landis, "baseball czar."

BOOTHS TO SHOW VALLEY INDUSTRY

Moon Festival at Tujunga To Carry Exhibits of Business Firms

TUJUNGA, Aug. 18.—Two of the latest additions to the list of attractions that will feature the fourth annual Moon Festival of the Tujungans are a food and refreshment booth, to be operated by the Tujunga Woman's club, and a booth for industrial and mercantile exhibits by valley firms and individuals. The latter will be sponsored by the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce, Sunland Chamber of Commerce and the Valley Center Improvement league.

Flower exhibits will also be made, with specimens from the gardens of local people who are cultivating blossoms for entry in the Sunland flower show to be held in the fall. The offer of post 250, American Legion, of space on the festival grounds for exhibits was accepted by the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce at the last meeting. A committee was appointed to co-operate with other valley organizations in arranging the exhibits. The committee consists of Wallace M. Morgan, C. H. Conway, Ed. Forster and George Aiken.

Laguna Beach Lures Crescenta Residents

LA CRESCENTA, Aug. 18.—Laguna Beach was quite popular with La Crescentians last week, among those seen there being Dean Boughton of Cambridge university with his daughter, Miss Marguerite. The dean, who holds the chair of English at the university, will return to the east this week, having spent almost a year here. Mr. and Mrs. Boughton have purchased property here and hope very soon to return and make California their permanent home.

Embert Brown and family were Laguna Beach visitors staying at the Laguna hotel, and Mrs. Moore and Mrs. H. Seaman of New York and Tujunga, were camping for a few days at the popular beach resort.

Mrs. Mary B. Darrow has returned from a week spent at Laguna. While there Mrs. Darrow was asked to speak at the Chamber of Commerce on incorporation problems and the fire equipment question.

Ward Van Duesen spent the week-end with his family at their beach residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haskins, Virginia and Billy, motored to Laguna on Sunday.

Mrs. E. Foy, Mrs. D. Rose and Mr. and Mrs. G. Knox were motorists who enjoyed the surf at Laguna at the week-end.

New Canyon Road to Be Conference Topic

TUJUNGA, Aug. 18.—The August meeting of the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce was short and calm, contrary to the expectations of many, who anticipated some vigorous debating on community subjects. Vice-President Leon Carr presided in the absence of H. H. Breidt, who is on a trip to Chicago, and the meeting adjourned an hour after being called to order.

It was voted to have the minutes of the board of directors' meetings read in open meetings of the chamber in future. Harry Zachau reported that the county surveyor has promised to have a man visit Tujunga to confer with residents on a route for the proposed new road into Big Tujunga canyon.

San Francisco is second of importance in the United States as a steamship passenger port.

CITY OFFICIALS STUDY BATS, BUGS

Santa Barbara Disturbed By Pests; Ants Become Fruitmen's Enemy

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 18.—Between bugs and bats the county and city officials of Santa Barbara are learning things today. First, the story of the bats which mistook the stairway of the city hall for a church belfry.

The hideous winged creatures, blinded by the light, collected on a landing on the stairway and both employes and visitors refused to go near them so a hurry call was sent for Miss Gladys McKillop, city laboratory technician. Armed with a sack she smothered the twenty-five victims and doused them with chloroform. Now from all parts of the city have come calls to kill bats by the ether route.

Ants Numerous

At the court house Eugene Kellogg, county horticultural commissioner, is endeavoring to determine some method of dealing wth Argentine ants. The latter are fighting the lady bugs propagated by Carpinteria ranchers to kill off the mealy bugs.

According to Kellogg the mealy bug is the "cow" for the ant and the ant fights the lady bug just as cattlemen give battle to predatory animals. In Montecito the mealy bugs are such a pest that the owners of fine estates are paying a penny apiece for lady bugs to protect their orange and lemon groves.

The French administration is selling by auction an ancient citadel—that of Saint-Jean-Pied-de-Port.

POLYTECHNIC TO OPEN

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Aug. 18.—The California Polytechnic school at San Luis Obispo will open its fall term September 15, with Dr. B. R. Cranall, formerly of the University of California department of agriculture, beginning his duties as president of the institution, succeeding Nicholas Ricciardi, now state director of vocational education. Any boy or girl in California who has had one year of high school work, or is 17 years of age or more, may enroll in the school. The entire living, expense for a year at Polytechnic, staying at the school dormitory, is estimated at not more than $350. There are no additional fees, nor tuition.

FISHERMEN ORGANIZE

SAN PEDRO, Aug. 18.—Complete reorganization of the market fishing industry here has been announced by Gilbert Van Camp, president of the Fishermen of Southern California, Inc., which has recently been approved by nearly 100 per cent of fresh market fishermen operating out of this port. Capitalization has been placed at a half-million dollars and, with 125 boats operating, the distributing agency will develop the utmost facilities to get their fish to Pacific coast markets.

HARVEST CUCUMBERS

ZELZAH, Aug. 18.—The pickle crop is harvested and the Heinz plant of the San Fernando valley, which is located here, reported that 27,000 pounds of cucumbers were delivered by local growers. Returns were so good that the acreage in the valley will be increased next season, it is said.

DRAIN CAR TO DRINK

NILAND, Aug. 18.—Eight members of three families, who comprised a cotton picking crew going to Blythe, have been reported found alive after three days on the desert near Rannels' well, without water or gasoline. When they ran out of gasoline they drank the water in the radiator of the light car which they were driving, and were found in a serious condition.

HALT CHICKEN FIGHT

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 18.—Agents of the humane society stopped a boxing contest between two roosters following the rodeo at the Old Spanish Days fiesta, it was reported today. Their sanction for the fight had been sought and it was stated the cocks would wear "gloves," which is another name for "spurs," it appears.

STARS WILL TWINKLE

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 18.—Metro movie stars will be introduced at a public street dance, to be held on Cahuenga boulevard Thursday evening, August 21, to celebrate the new boulevard lighting system. Free motion pictures will be shown, and the public is invited.

WANTS MARK TO RISE

SANTA ANA, Aug. 18.—Louis Yanner is living in the hope that the Dawes reparation plan rehabilitates the German mark. For he has more than a billion marks, but, for the present, is residing in the county jail. When arrested he had less than $2 in American coin and there was no one willing to trust to foreign exchange long enough to aid him.

PLAN SHAM BATTLE

RIVERSIDE, Aug. 18.—Major R. W. Ashbrook, commanding the Poly High R. O. T. C. units here, announces that, soon after the opening of school, there will be a day set aside for army maneuvers, including a sham battle between the various units, with airplane observers from San Diego to give color to the drill work.

Rural Buyers Place Record Size Orders

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 18—Fall buying by country merchants is in full swing here and the current week promises to be the largest for wholesalers of the year so far. Rural retailers now are willing to stock up freely, except those located in sections seriously affected by drought. The returns for all crops promise to be well above those of last year, higher prices compensating for smaller yields. Retail sales of men's clothing, shoes and furnishings have been especially good this year.

"TOBACCO IS A FILTHY WEED; I LIKE IT"

"Pernicious weed; whose scent the fair annoys,
Unfriendly to society's chief joys,
Thy worst effect is banishing for hours
The sex whose presence civilizes ours."
—Cowper.

If Cowper were alive today he would not have written the last two lines of his poem, for part of the enormous increase in tobacco is due to the "sex that civilizes." Aside from smoking during gestation and nursing, the habit is no more to be censured in women than in men. Personally, I don't think there is anything immoral in smoking. But it is harmful, therefore I write on it.

I have had occasion just recently to know of the harmful effects of excessive smoking. One of my friends who had got so that she smoked one cigarette after another (a chain smoker) began to develop symptoms which I knew were due to nicotine and carbon monoxide poisoning. While she has the health and constitution of a young draft horse, she was developing a lassitude, physical and mental, which I could account for in no other way. She told me that she was losing her powers to concentrate; her work, which she had loved, had become irksome; her heart was irregular; she had fainted at dinner one evening. Not being in private practice I sent her to a friend of mine to have a thorough physical examination. The doctor found, as I had suspected, that all her symptoms were traceable to nicotine poisoning. We advised her to stop abruptly, not to try to limit the number of cigarettes, but simply to make up her mind that she was not going to smoke and to stick to her resolution. She found she could do this, that it was not so hard as to try to limit herself, and she suffered no ill effects from it.

Now I am going to give you some scientific facts about the poisons from tobacco, not from an anti-moral standpoint, you understand. The reason I headed the title as I did, "Tobacco is a Filthy Weed; I Like It," (I hope it won't get me in bad), is because I knew I could catch a lot of smokers—the "they will-take-away - our - tea - and-coffee-next" protesting type—who would otherwise not read it, thinking it was simply moralizing anti-cigarette propaganda. These facts that I will give you have been taken from reports of research work done by men of the highest standing in the scientific world, men whose work is accepted without question as to its value. Most of these facts I got from the textbook, "Industrial Health," by Hayhurst and Kober. Here are the facts:

1. In "inhaling" tobacco smoke, eight times more nicotine is absorbed than otherwise.

2. The acute and part of the chronic toxic effects of smoking are due to the nicotine. One drop of the concentrated nicotine will kill a dog; nine-tenths of a grain will kill a man. (Kellogg).

3. Some of the chronic toxic effects are due to the carbon monoxide gas.

4. There is an increase in blood pressure during smoking. (Lee).

5. Smokers usually have a greater susceptibility to tuberculosis and are less amenable to curative measures. (Flick).

6. There is a lowering of mental and physical efficiency. (Lombard). Memory, concentration, will power, all of the higher faculties are affected.

7. Tobacco is especially harmful under maturity when the tissues are in the plastic stage of growing. Their normal functions are interfered with. There is an interference with the food absorption and growth, mental and physical.

8. Tobacco as well as other irritants, tends to give rise to abnormal cell multiplication.

Tomorrow I will talk a little more on some of these facts.

Tomorrow—Tobacco No. 2

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Mother of Four: "I don't know how I ever find time to knit and crochet—but I love it so much that I manage to work at it every spare minute! Can you give me directions for a knitted, plain sacque for my baby of eight months?"

Answer: I cannot always hope to have just the fancywork directions which my readers desire, but I am glad to say that I happen to have those which you want:

Infant's Knitted Sacque: Buy one ball of Iceland Wool and one pair of number three amber knitting needles. Cast on 60 stitches and knit 84 rows, or 42 ridges (over and back making one ridge). Now bind off 20 stitches; the shaping will come at this end of work. Knit the remaining 40 stitches to end of needle, and knit back. Narrow one stitch each ridge for two ridges, then knit three ridges without narrowing, then widen one stitch each ridge for two ridges at arm size. Cast on 20 stitches and knit 56 ridges; this completes the entire width of back. Bind off 20 stitches at top and make other arm size and front to match first side. Sew up 14 ridges of the back to the 14 ridges of front to form shoulder. Finish neck with a long crochet and a chain of two between. Make chain of three and fasten down with a short crochet all around jacket and at neck.

Sleeves: Cast on 40 stitches and knit 48 ridges and then bind off loosely. Knit up 44 stitches at bottom of sleeve for cuff and knit two and purl two for 14 rows. Bind off loosely.

B. E. G.: "Please tell me something about the care of ferns."

Answer: I do not always attempt to answer question on gardening or indoor plants, but I may be able to help you in regard to your potted ferns. Success with house ferns depends upon good drainage, adequate watering and regular feeding. Insure the first by putting a one-inch layer of broken crockery in the bottom of the pot. As ferns root deep, the pot must be a deep one. Instead of watering from the top in the usual manner, set the fern pot in water deep enough to come to within half an inch of the top and let it stay until enough water has been absorbed to saturate the surface of the soil. Drain thoroughly and do not water again till the surface of soil is actually dry. Spray the foliage once a week with tepid water applied with a plant syringe. Feed once a week with a solution of nitrate of soda (one teaspoon in a quart of water) using a cupful for a five-inch pot.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, in care of the "Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

Shower of Linen

Miss Hazel Walters, who is to be married August 28 to Clarence McMillan, received another prenuptial honor Saturday, when Mrs. T. B. Miller, assisted by Mrs. William Tyrrell, gave a linen shower at the Miller home on East Eagledale drive, Eagle Rock.

Music and clever contests were entertainment features. With the serving of refreshments, Genevieve Tyrrell and Virginia Miller presented the bride-to-be with a shower of lovely linens for her new home. Red and white formed an unusual color scheme for decoration.

There were present Mesdames Earl H. Kent, F. W. Miller, Wilfore Braden, J. A. Quackenbush, Stanley Walker, Nadine Walters, N. H. Palmer, Martin Sunkes, O. S. Palmer, R. J. Perkins, F. E. Wilkes; Misses Ruth Palmer, Evangeline Quackenbush, Rose Parker, Alice Kent, the hostesses and honoree.

Rebekah Affairs

This week is to be a very busy one for members of the Carnation Rebekah lodge, for it will be featured by a business and social meeting tomorrow night; meetings of the Afternoon club and Past Noble Grands' club Friday afternoon, and a week-end outing on Saturday and Sunday at Topango Canyon beach.

Mrs. Viola Ertel is chairman of the stunt program that will be the entertainment at the gathering tomorrow night. Venona Borden, noble grand, will preside over a short business meeting before the program. The lodge meets at 8 o'clock in the Odd Fellows' hall on East Broadway, and all resident or visiting lodge members are welcome to attend.

Separate meetings of the Afternoon club and Past Noble Grands' club will be held Friday afternoon in the lodge hall. At the latter meeting Sadie Bronnenberg and Viola Ertel will give instruction as to duties of officers. The meeting is open to noble grands of any jurisdiction.

Elaborate plans are being made for the week-end outing and announcement will be made of the details at the meeting tomorrow night.

Ice Cream Social

Beauties of La Crescenta in the moonlight will be enjoyed tomorrow night by those attending the old-fashioned ice cream social, to be given by the Glendale Cat club at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Card at 209 East Altura street. The evening is to be spent informally on the lawn, with five-hundred, bridge, mah jongg, other games, and visiting. The affair will begin at 8 o'clock, and all members and friends of the Cat club are to be welcome guests. Home-made ice cream and cake will be on sale during the evening.

For information of those planning to attend, Mrs. Card states that those motoring should follow the Glendale-Montrose car line to Los Angeles street. Then turn right two blocks to Altura street and turn to the right to 209.

Those going by street car are informed that cars leave the Glendale avenue depot at five minutes to and twenty-five minutes after the hour. Automobiles will meet street cars at Los Angeles street.

Picnic Success

The picnic and dancing party with which the members of the Eastern Star, Glendale Chapter U D., entertained their friends last Saturday night at Brookside park, proved to be a most enjoyable informal affair. A basket dinner was enjoyed at 6 o'clock by the seventy-five members and friends in attendance. Later in the evening, games, contests and dancing were enjoyed. The committee in charge of the affair received many deserving compliments upon the success of the affair. Those who served on the committee were Mesdames Henry Cozad, Robert Lawson, Agnes Allen and Ella Joralemon.

Gives Luncheon

Mrs. C. F. Parker of 221 North Central avenue was a recent luncheon hostess, complimentary to Mrs. William Lott, jr., of Pittsburgh, Pa., who is visiting her mother, Mrs. Martha Galer of 370 West Palmer avenue.

Pink and white were used in arranging the luncheon table. Places were marked for Mesdames Martha Galer, M. E. Warfield, Adrienne Wilson of Glendale; E. L. Mansell of Burbank; Miss Martha Warfield and Billy Lott, Buddy Mansell, the hostess and honoree.

♣ ♣ ♣

Veterans Hosts

Meetings of the G. A. R. and W. R. C. are to be held Friday in the G. A. R. hall on South Glendale avenue. A special feature of the day will be the luncheon at which the veterans will be hosts. The only contribution from the women will be home-made pies.

The G. A. R. meets in the morning and after luncheon the W. R. C. will convene.

♣ ♣ ♣

Lunch Chairman

Mrs. Grace Lamb is general chairman of the luncheon Wednesday of Glen Eyrie Social club in the Masonic temple on South Brand boulevard. The morning will be devoted to sewing. Luncheon is to be served at 12:30 o'clock and will be followed by a business hour. Reservations for the luncheon can be made by calling Glendale 3593-J.

Go to Santa Ana

A large delegation of members of Omar Shrine No. 9, White Shrine of Jerusalem, were in attendance Saturday night at the regular meeting of the Santa Ana Shrine, known as the "baby shrine" of the Southern California district.

The floor work was put on by the members of the Daisy Florette club, composed of Past Junior Worthy High Priestesses of 1923 and of which Mrs. Evelyn G. Pierce of Glendale is president. The members of this club were assisted during the evening by a number of officers from the various shrines.

Members of the club include Mrs. Evelyn G. Pierce of Glendale, president, who acted as worthy high priestess; Adelle Klock, secretary and treasurer of Arteban Shrine of Pasadena, acted as chaplain; Blanche Lightfoot of Fullerton Shrine, acted as watchman of the shepherds; Elnora Osborne of Long Beach assisted as guide; Marie B. Kramer of Hollywood acted as queen.

Those from other shrines who assisted were: W. G. Wisner, king; May Warick, of Glendale, worthy herald; Mr. Chatterton, watchman of shepherds, Frederick Wenzel, Mr. Harris and B. E. Jordan, three wise men; Marguerita Orm, Mrs. Minnie Jordan and a representative from Fullerton were the three handmaidens; and Sidney Orm of Pasadena directed the lantern slides.

After the ritualistic work a banquet was served and a splendid program presented. Those from Glendale who took part in the evening's program included Mrs. Mina Wenzel, vocalist, and Catherine Delgardo, organist.

♣ ♣ ♣

Arranges Picnic

Mrs. Warren Roberts, worthy high priestess of Omar shrine, White Shrine of Jerusalem, states that, after a special trip to Santa Monica, plans for the Shrine picnic Saturday night are working out most satisfactorily. The picnic is to be held at the Rendezvous on the Crystal pier, and those attending are assured of a delightful outing.

A special Pacific Electric car is to leave Glendale at 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, with a party of fifty Shrine members and guests. Following a 6 o'clock picnic dinner, dancing will be the diversion of the evening.

A special announcement, made by Mrs. Roberts, is that coffee will be provided at the beach, so that it will not be necessary to take thermos bottles.

Reservations for the affair can be made with Mrs. Clytelle Hewitt at Glendale 203-J.

♣ ♣ ♣

Guild Benefit

Mrs. W. J. Farber, president of St. Mark's Guild, is to be hostess Thursday afternoon at a silver tea, given at her home, 209 East Palmer avenue. Members and friends of the parish are invited to attend between the hours of 2 to 5 o'clock.

Special guests will be Misses Cochran and Sels, both well-known missionaries. Miss Cochran will tell of experiences of her thirty years of service in Japan.

The guild members, their families and friends are to have a picnic outing Tuesday August 26, at Santa Monica beach. This will be the last informal social gathering before the fall program is begun. Announcement of details of the picnic outing will be made at an early date.

♣ ♣ ♣

Speaks Tonight

Mrs. Spence of Monrovia, recently elected first vice president of the state American Legion auxiliary, has accepted the invitation of the local auxiliary to speak at the meeting tonight to be held at the H. C. Smith home, 1027 Florence place. Mrs. Spence is an interesting speaker and will tell of the recent state gathering at Santa Cruz. Mrs. E. W. Gilliland, president of the local auxiliary, will have charge of a short business session.

♣ ♣ ♣

All Day Meeting

The Aid society of the Tropico Presbyterian church will hold its regular monthly all day meeting tomorrow, August 19, at the home of Mrs. H. L. Moody of 333 West Cypress street. The meeting will convene at 10 o'clock. The time will be spent in making preparations for the bazaar to be given by the society early in the fall. All women of the church are urged to be present.

♣ ♣ ♣

Work For Bazaar

Mrs. Georgia Lambie of 460 West Doran street, assisted by Miss Margaret Lambie and Mrs. Lillie Lynd, will entertain the Electa Social club on Wednesday. Mrs. Crytelle Hewitt announces that the meeting for the fall bazaar will have needlework to occupy the time before and after the luncheon hour.

♣ ♣ ♣

Club Tomorrow

The Nimble Finger club, auxiliary of the Daughters of Veterans, will hold an all-day meeting Tuesday, August 19, at the home of Mrs. E. H. Dutton, 106 East Cypress street. A hot luncheon will be served at noon. All members and Daughters of Veterans are urged to be in attendance.

♣ ♣ ♣

Meeting Tonight

The Odd Fellows' hall on West Broadway will be the scene tonight of a social meeting of neighbors of Woodcraft. The meeting is to begin at 8 o'clock.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

UNSATISFACTORY HAIR REMOVAL

A great many women write me complaining of the electric needle treatment for removing superfluous hair. Sometimes the needle has left small scars, most often the hairs have grown in again so the condition is as bad as it ever was. Surely, they say, there must be a more satisfactory method than this.

Unfortunately, there isn't. There are some hundreds of depilatories on the market containing quicklime or various sulphates. These dissolve or eat off the hairs to the surface of the skin, and if properly applied do not irritate. But they are only good for removing hair in the arm pits or on the legs, and even for these purposes I should advise buying and learning to use a safety razor instead.

But for removal of superfluous hair on the face there is still nothing better than the electric needle. If skillfully done the skin is not scarred and only 20 to 30 per cent of the hairs reappear, these being hairs already growing under the skin. The proper method is a certain multiple electric needle process. There are five insular needles, each one inserted into a hair follicle so that five hairs are removed at once. These needles are so fine that when properly inserted no pain is felt, and anywhere from 150 to 200 hairs can be comfortably removed in a two-hour treatment.

If hairs "return" they will be found much thinner and frailer. If these are pulled out with tweezers they probably will not come in again. The electric needle, however, can be used a second time. But if you are not sure that the operator is skillful, use tweezers yourself and pat a mixture of equal parts of peroxide of hydrogen and ammonia over the skin. This will kill some of the hairs and bleach them all so the growth will be less conspicuous. A little down over the lip is not unattactive.

Brown Eyes—A girl with brown eyes and brown hair will find all the autumn shades her most becoming colors.

B. C. A.—The proper thing for you to do is to stop wearing the bandeau so that the bust can recover. Any pressure which destroys muscle firmness is bad. Very young girls are very often troubled like yourself and think they must reduce the size of the bust; but a few more years of development will generally bring all parts of their body into correct proportions.

Electric treatments for superfluous hair aren't always satisfactory.

Dash cold water over the chest and bust several times a day and use light friction from a coarse towel to stimulate the circulation. This treatment should help to correct this flabby condition.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Roomer Slays Woman And Self In Row

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—Louis Johnson is dead and Mrs. Martha Holliday, 49, boarding house proprietor, is dying, following an altercation in which Johnson is said by police to have repeatedly struck the woman with a hatchet and then hacked himself with a razor.

Johnson, according to police, had been living with the woman as her husband and was said by neighbors to have been of a jealous disposition. When she stayed out until eleven o'clock last night he met her at the door and argued with her, later securing the hatchet.

So quickly was the act committed, police say, that roomers next door were unaware anything out of the ordinary had happened.

U. S. Refuses Any Russian Recognition

PEKING, Aug. 18.—When the Japanese minister advised soviet Ambassador Karakhan today that the protocol powers had agreed to hand over the former Russian legation to him, he added a supplementary note on behalf of American Minister Jacob Gould Schurmann. It is explained that the latter's action "in acquiescing in the understanding embodied in the note in no wise constitutes or implies recognition on the part of the government of the United States of the regime known as the union of the socialist soviet republics."

BUTTERFLY

By KATHLEEN NORRIS. Copyright, 1924.

She had run upstairs with a double handful of beautiful Christmas ribbons, broad black and blue and lemon-colored ribbons from her coat-box, gold oriental ribbons and strips of beautiful silver and copper-colored French ribbon. With her demure air of thrift, Hilary had gathered these together; there were little girls in Mount Holly who would think these were the most beautiful things in the world, she said.

She was running down again, to the lower floor that was so deliciously warm today, so scented with evergreens and violets, so pleasantly filled with furred, laughing women and beautiful presents and rich dark rooms, and snapping fires, when the sight of soft snowfall out of doors made her pause, on the landing, to look out into pretty Madison Avenue.

The big brownstone houses all about were keeping Christmas as the Spauldings were; Hilary saw the gleam of Christmas trees in lace-draped windows, and the big limousines stopping and starting at open doorways. The street was full of gaily moving people after the late services, and upon them all, and up against the gray quiet skies, the tiny even ropes of the snow were twisting, twisting, twisting, infinitely pure, infinitely cold and silent and sweet.

Snow. The last touch of beauty, she thought, entranced at the charm of the whole picture, and not without a homesick pang for little Sugarhouse Lane and her own little walled garden in the snow.

Below her there was an odd turn in the hallway, where a passage into the new library had been cut some twenty years before. Hilary, looking down at this angle carelessly, saw Cecil Atherton and Butterfly come through from the library. In another minute somebody else followed: Rose West and Jim Clarke, and other young men. But in that instant Hilary saw.

She saw Cecil lightly enfold Butterfly with his arm and Butterfly give him a sidewise, upward glance that was full of radiant meaning. And at the same moment Cecil slipped his free hand into his breast pocket, and displayed something on his palm; something that Hilary knew rather than saw was a disc of ivory with a crystal rim and face.

Amazed, and a little dizzy, she leaned back against the window curtains of the landing; she heard Cy Dwyer's laugh, and she heard him say: "But I tell you, I am the Prince!" for the thousandth time.

They had gone by; Craig was calling from below: "Hilary!" She must go down.

The utter confusion of mind and heart, as she did so, almost made her faint. Everything was a whirl of surprise—a thousand little half-remembered facts rushed to her consciousness even while Butterfly linked an arm in hers and an arm in Craig's and pushed herself childishly between them into the dining room.

She remembered, dazedly, letting some man put cold turkey and hot Spanish macaroni upon her plate; she remembered now Butterfly's many mysterious if brief engagements during the last few weeks. She remembered telephone calls from which Butterfly came with a strange brightness in her eyes; she remembered notes, flowers, moments of unobserved murmuring with Cecil. This accounted for the incessant, elusive smile, for the cryptic air of self-content.

Why, on the very first day of her visit, Butterfly had made some excuse to remain downstairs with him alone for a few minutes; she had clouded even that happy hour by questioning Hilary about him; did Hilary like him? Did she realize that some day he would be a lord?

Hilary remembered other significant things: Butterfly's often-expressed contempt for what was American, her hints that in England the social structure was more stable, more admirable in every way——

She felt dizzy and hurt; she sat with her filled plate in a chair somewhat apart from the others, only hoping that she would not betray Butterfly, would not make some stupid blunder. The thing appeared more important as she realized it more and more fully.

She knew there was no real mischief in Butterfly—the gay little innocent, inspiring, loving companion of eighteen ideal years! But Hilary felt uneasy: Butterfly was a woman now. This was no time for such caprices! She began hurriedly to eat and talk, but she could feel herself that there was a strained and conscious look upon her face; she drank her coffee, managed a smile for Craig as he sat down beside her.

"Salad, Hilary?" he asked.

"Oh, not yet! I've hardly started. I've had—I've had a stupid headache——"

"You have?" his concerned tone almost upset her. "Why didn't you say so?"

"It's really—really that I—I hate to see Dora with these people," Hilary burst out, vigorously, her own voice helping her to regain her self-control. "I know that some of them are nice—of course they are. But—but she wasn't brought up like that, and she can't stand it, Craig—she's too young!"

"Yet I think you could stand it, Hilary," Craig said, with an unsmiling look at her. "It amuses me to see how quietly you hold your own with them!"

"Did you get your Christmas present, Miss Collier? Don't move, Craig, I can squeeze in here on your chair for just a moment!" Violet Vanderwort asked, in her velvet voice, coming up to them. "Don't you remember the little miniature we saw at Von Hinz's that day?" she asked.

Hilary felt her mouth grow dry, and her hands get cold, as she smiled gallantly.

"Not yet," she managed to say easily, "perhaps it was for my birthday, in March!"

"It was the duckiest thing; Miss Collier and I stumbled upon it accidentally," Violet said, in explanation, to Craig. "Eat it!" she commanded, holding an olive against his lips. "Oh, Dora!" she called, "what became of that adorable little second miniature that Von Hinz did of you?"

Hilary felt the blood congeal in her veins. She would have liked to shake Violet. Dora, who had been laughing extravagantly, in a group of young men, turned innocent, puzzled eyes upon them.

"What miniature?" she asked, the last of her laughter dying from her puzzled yet perfectly serene little face,

"Oh, come now—come now!" Violet said. "We'll suspect you of some secret if you don't 'fess up!"

"Suspect me of nothing!" Dora drawled, good-naturedly, coming over to them. "But what I want to know is how you ever heard of it?"

"We saw it, Butterfly," Hilary contributed, hoping her anxiety did not show. She put her arm about Dora as Dora rested on the arm of her chair. "And I hoped it was for me!"

"You saw it!" Dora cried, in exasperation. "How on earth did she happen to let you see it. It was for you, Hilary, but the poor old thing begged so to have it for an exhibition that I let it go. And it was smashed—four of them were——"

"I know, you told me!" Hilary cried, breathing again.

"Yes, Frances Chislom's was," Paula Davenport remembered, "poor Von Hinz was telling me! But she didn't say anything about yours, Dora."

"It was a surprise, I had asked her not to mention it," Dora said. "She's doing it over again, Hilary, and I think it's better, but I'm so disgusted that you found out!"

Hilary's eyes went about the circle; Craig was apparently neither listening nor interested, to everyone else the episode was worth no more than its face value. To everyone except Cecil Atherton, that is; Hilary could have sworn that his casual glance met Dora's as she spoke, and that the faint look of relief in his face as the awkward moment passed was unmistakable.

All through the rest of the day, throughout the family dinner with Craig's uncle, she was haunted by fears. Could Butterfly have been so blind, so childish—as to fall into this folly? Was her little innocent sister playing this dangerous game?

"The Love Test," a three-act hilarious rural comedy from the pen of Joseph P. Judge, which had its initial Pacific coast showing last night at the tent theatre in Casa Verdugo, proved to be one of the best bits of work done by the members of Murphy's Comedians.

The frolicsome farce kept the opening night audience in an uproar from the first curtain to the final scene. "The Love Test" will be the offering of the Murphy Comedians for the current week. The tent theatre, which is located at Central avenue and Stocker street, is only three minutes north of the business section of Glendale.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S POCKETBOOK

Baby Bunty, the little rabbit girl had just come up on the sandy beach of the seashore, after having been in bathing Baby Bunty was very hungry. Splashing in the salt water made her want to eat two cabbages and part of another one—almost.

"If I only had a penny I would buy myself a popcorn ball at the candy booth on the boardwalk," said Baby Bunty to herself. "Oh, how hungry I am!"

The little orphan rabbit girl, who was staying for a while at the driftwood bungalow of Uncle Wiggily at the seashore, looked up and down the beach.

"If I could only find a penny in the sand," she whispered. But not a penny could she see. However, she saw something almost as good as a penny—she saw Uncle Wiggily walking along the beach, and twinkling his pink nose.

"Oh, I know what I'll do!" laughed Baby Bunty. Quietly she ran up behind the old rabbit gentleman. "Boo-hoo!" she cried loudly.

"Ouchie! Mercy me! Who is it?" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily jumping around.

"Ha! Ha! I fooled you, didn't I?" laughed Baby Bunty. "You thought it was the Fuzzy Fox, didn't you? But I hope I didn't scare you so much that you lost your pocket-book."

"Lost my pocket-book—what do you meani" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I mean I hope you have your pocket-book, so you can give me a penny—maybe," said Baby Bunty slowly, "and I could buy a pop corn ball—maybe, and I wouldn't be hungry any more—maybe."

"Oh, I see!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Well, I guess I have a penny for you," and the old rabbit, opening his pocket-book, which was a strong one, closing with a snap, and gave Bunty a penny.

"Thank you!" she cried, running off down the beach to spend the money for a pop corn ball. And as Bunny hopped away the sly, old Weasel, crept out from behind a pile of seaweed and followed Uncle Wiggily.

"I know what I'll do," whispered the Weasel. "I'll jump in the water and get wet. Then I'll roll in the white sand. The white sand will stick to my wet fur. Then I'll look like Baby Bunty when she comes out from bathing. I'll pretend to be Baby Bunty. I'll slip up behind Uncle Wiggily and say I lost that first penny and I need another. He will think I'm Bunty. He'll open his pocket-book to give me another penny and I'll have a chance to nibble his ears."

So the sly Weasel dipped himself in the ocean. Then he rolled in the white sand which stuck to his wet fur. Then the Weasel slipped up behind Uncle Wiggily. Making his voice sound as much as he could like Baby Bunty's the Weasel said:

"I—now—I lost my penny, Uncle Wig!"

The bunny turned quickly and opened his pocketbook. But just then the wind blew some of the sand off the weasel and Uncle Wiggily saw who the bad chap was.

"Oh, ho! You can't fool me!" cried Mr. Longears. Then he opened his pocket-book wider and as the Weasel thrust his nose forward Uncle Wiggily pinched the nose of the sly, bad chap in his strong pocket-book.

"Wowchie! Wow! howled the Weasel. "Oh, my nose!" And, pulling his nose loose, away he ran, not even stopping for a penny.

Baby Bunny laughed when she heard how the Weasel tried to be like her, and Mr. Longears laughed also. And if the red ribbon band on the rag doll's hat will play a jolly tune for the hop toad I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the loud voice.

The man looking through blue glasses three years ago could not get an imaginary glimpse of a population of 9,000 people for Glendale in 1914. And it is only the optimist that can get a clear vision of 20,000 people in Glendale in 1919.

SHIPMENTS DROP

BOSTON, Aug. 18.—Figures for the Cape Cod canal traffic for the first half of this year reflect the falling off in coal shipments. Only 1,369,533 tons were handled, as compared with 2,123,513 tons last year. Tonnage of miscellaneous freight amounted to only 399,520, tons, as compared with 806,863 in the first half of 1923.

Take An Active Interest in Your Own Government

VOTE at the PRIMARIES,

Aug. 26th

The Success or the Failure of County, State, and National Government depends upon the Character of the men who make, execute and enforce the laws of the government.

Men and women who are eligible to the right of franchise are responsible for the kind of men elected to office.

The Primary Election which is set for Aug. 26 is the date designated for placing Congressional candidates, candidates for the Assembly of the State of California, candidates for the office of Supervisor, candidates for the office of District Attorney and candidates for the office of Judge of the various courts of the county.

The Primary Election on August 26 is made doubly important on account of all candidates who are in the non-partizan class being governed by non-partizan rules; therefore the candidate seeking nomination at the Primary August 26, who gets a majority of all the votes cast for that office, becomes the only nominee for that office at the November election.

A majority vote for non-partizan candidate Aug. 26 is equivalent to an election; that being true, it is indeed important to get a full vote out at the primaries.

The names of persons on this page represent business men and others who urge everybody to vote at the primary election Tuesday, Aug. 26.

Official List of Candidates

$6500—$2000 Cash

You may have looked at many of the 5-room houses which are being offered at approximately $6500. If so, you will be in a better position to appreciate just how much more you are being offered in this home.
The location is ideal. Close in, and yet in a restricted locality, with attractive homes all around it. Wonderful view of the mountains.
Construction is the best. Not built by ordinary contract labor, but instead by a skilled builder who does practically everything himself, and who takes pride in his work. Large porch at front and rear. The living room is large, with a real fireplace. Batchelder tile mantel. Dining room attractive with every necessary built-in convenience. The kitchen is ideal, tile sink, of course, and every little feature which a woman appreciates. No nook but instead a delightful little breakfast room, for table and chairs. The screen porch is roomy with a place for refrigerator, electric washer, broom closet, etc. The bedrooms are large with plenty of room for twin beds if desired; light and attractive, with plenty of closet space. Tile bath, with shower.
You can't find the equal of this house in Glendale for the price, only $6500, and a $2000 cash payment will handle.

Dietrich's Best Buy

On North Maryland (joining Brand Blvd., in rear, right in the heart of Glendale's Best Business District), a large 6 rm. home on a lot 50x140.
This is a good Home—not new—BUT REMARKABLY WELL BUILT—with good basement and Furnace. The living room is very pleasant, with real fire place, and stone mantel. The Dining rm. faces Maryland and has good buffet and plenty of light. The three bed rooms are good size and have large clothes closets. The front bed room opens off living room and hall both, and could be used for library or den, if desired. The Kitchen is also large with full cupboards, cooler, flour and sugar bins and good nook. The back porch is large enough to be used as a room.
The lawns are good in the rear as well as the front. There is plenty of shrubbery, good shade and fruit trees.
A double garage completes the requisites for a good Home.
Best of all, this is a fine buy from a speculative standpoint. Some time in the not distant future, all of these lots adjoining Brand Blvd. frontage will sell at a tremendous profit, over present prices.
We offer this property, at the value of the lot alone, $10,500. Takes only $2500 to handle.

OFFICE SEEKERS PROBED BY CLASS

Bible Students Hear Report On Candidates Asking Votes In Primary

There was a large attendance of members and visitors at the men's Bible study class of the First Methodist Episcopal church yesterday morning, and the committee on political action appointed last Sunday reported a list of candidates for the offices of judges of the superior court and district attorney, and suggested that every member of the class should investigate for themselves the character and fitness of the candidates to serve the public in the offices they were seeking.

"Reverence for the House of God," was the subject of the lesson, and Rev. R. W. Mottern, of the Lutheran church, was the teacher in the absence at camp meeting of the Rev. Hoskyn.

Learn Discipline

The story was that of the visit of Jesus to the temple at the feast of the passover—His first public appearance—and the teacher made many special applications of the act of the Master in driving out the money changers and traffickers in merchandise from the house of God, and gave interesting illustrations as to the time and customs of the Jews of that period.

"The church," said the teacher, "is not just a place of worship, but is a school in which the true follower of the Christ finds opportunity to discipline his conduct and inspire his soul to greater service for the Lord. And there is no room in the church of Christ for any spirit of commercial or political power."

Bentley Party Gets Golden Trout on Trip

Limit catches of golden trout and rainbow trout were made daily by three Glendalians who have just returned from a week of fishing in the High Sierras, according to George Bentley, of Bentley Lumber company, who was accompanied by Dr. Fay G. Stone and William Tatham. From Glendale the party drove to Lone Pine, in Inyo county, and then rode horseback 35 miles to the Kern river, where they caught rainbow trout.

They fished in Golden Trout creek, Big Whitney creek and Cottonwood creek, where the golden trout were landed. Mr. Bentley stated that limit catches of golden trout were made in an hour. The party reached an elevation of 11,600 feet above sea level on the trip. Forest fires were under control in the East river country as they went in. they reported, and completely extinguished by the time they left. Some of the golden trout landed by the party are on exhibit at Cornwell & Kelty's.

That's All

Among The Candidates
News In Advertising
Glendale's Reflection
Crime And Scandal

By Gil A. Cowan

Claims and counter-claims of candidates for public office are making their appearance this last week of the primary election campaign.

Locally, there is some stiff fighting to be done for votes. Mere publicity of promises will not avail a great deal unless backed by the stamina necessary to win not alone the nomination, but the fights to be met later.

One of the most interesting fights is that for place in the list of judges to be presented in the November election. It is indeed difficult for the average voter to differentiate between the merits of the candidates.

A lawyer who enters the judiciary lists must necessarily have a very fair record. Also, he must be capable to avoid criticism of other barristers. Therefore, the principal issue is that of garnering votes.

The presentation of a candidate's claims in the columns of the newspaper—advertising, if you please—is a mighty good way of acquainting the public with himself.

A mere banner hung across the street, the name of a man displayed on a card means but little to the average voter. He wants to know who is who and why and he is entitled to know.

But certainly not at the expense of partisan publishers who later will court unseemly favors. The space for statements should be advertising, but well worth the reading.

Wise people make a practice of reading the advertising columns just as readily as the news or editorial columns. And there is no question but what a liberal education is afforded the public by proper advertising.

The popularity of numerous commodities of every day use has been builded on legitimate advertising. Stores have made reputations by the honesty of their published prices. Confidence has been instilled by what is classed as "editorial advertising."

In advertising you find a science, a profession, if you please, that seeks to inform the public—and that it has succeeded stands without question.

Therefore, the person who does not permit advertising to appeal to him as a legitimate source of information is the loser in the long run.

The advertising columns of The Glendale Evening News are a veritable market place. Particularly are the classified columns worthy of your attention, for many profitable offerings are to be found there daily.

You should develop the habit of looking through the advertisements, just as you search for the telegraphic and local news.

And give your support to the advertisers who make this paper possible, for they are the community builders.

The Glendale Evening News is the true reflection of the growth of this city.

Incidentally, if you will note those who are not advertising, you will likely find some selfish interest in their motive. You may draw your own conclusions regarding their interest in your patronage.

What is news? A neighboring paper questions the advisability of printing stories about the Loeb-Leopold trial, the Kid McCoy case, etc. However, the writer notes, it does give the news on inside pages, because without it there would be a large loss in subscribers.

Also, more people read sensational news than the market reports, we know. And in a contest for the most readers editors sometimes overstep the bounds of what they themselves consider proper.

While some readers do not desire the scandalous affairs as a diet, we are reminded of an elderly Pasadena woman who quit a morning paper because of its news policy and a day later resubscribed, saying that she found the other papers equally as bad, if not worse, in other respects.

We have yet to see the successful newspaper which did not print all of the news. And we never will have a successful newspaper in this land of free competition which does not respond to the readers' desires.

That's all.

Lay Water Mains for Montrose Residences

MONTROSE, Aug. 18.—New water mains are being laid in Montrose to meet the increased demand for domestic consumption. Two pipe lines will be added to the eight-inch line on Montrose avenue, to serve the southwestern section. Several two-inch mains will be laid also.

The directors expect to sell at least $1200 additional stock before they can complete the improvements in pipe line service they contemplate. Available funds will permit of only limited extensions. The completion of the new well at Honolulu and Dunsmuir avenues will give plenty of water for the reservoirs when the pump and gasoline engine are installed.

Nearly 90,000 gallons of whiskey were sold on prescriptions in California during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923.

SCOUTS CAMP IN TUJUNGA CANYON

Boys Warned to Use Care In Lighting Fires When Selecting Site

Glendale Boy Scouts numbering over sixty camped Friday and Saturday on the Aiken ranch at the mouth of Big Tujunga canyon. Leaving Glendale at 9 o'clock on Friday morning, the Scouts, with Harvey R. Cheesman, Scout executive, Scoutmasters and committeemen, reached camp before noon.

After pitching camp and raising the flag the boys in charge of Mr. Cheesman took a hike into the neighboring mountains, where Mr. Cheesman gave a field talk on trees, shrubs, birds and rocks. Upon returning to camp swimming was enjoyed in two swimming holes.

Lunch over, games and swimming were enjoyed and at night a big campfire was a feature. Yells, songs, stunts and stories made up the program. Lewis Wilson, deputy scout commissioner, told animal and ghost stories, and Scoutmasters Lowry, McLean, Speck and Dunn also entertained.

Pack Camp Site

Saturday morning the boys were given instruction in picking and preparing a camp site. Care in avoiding danger of fire is emphasized in the training of every Scout and is included as one of the Scout tests. The importance of selecting and arranging a camp so that there will be no danger of fire, and the correct manner of extinguishing a campfire are things every Scout is supposed to know.

While in camp the boys were given tests in cooking, tracking for half a mile by Indian signs, fire lighting, putting out a fire and first aid.

After the lunch Saturday the Scouts engaged in a lively game of "Capture the Flag." A swim preceded the return home at 4 o'clock.

Two of Browning's poems dealing with the land and landsmen were written when he was in a boat and seasick.

SEALED ORDER DEMONSTRATION

-all this week!

See why the Oakland Six is a year in advance of its field!

This week, all over America the True Blue Oakland will obey Sealed Orders—sealed at the Oakland factory.

And thereby furnish eye proof of Oakland's year-ahead ability and desirability.

We are permitted to break only one seal every morning at ten to discover the True Blue Oakland duty for the day.

But from what we know about the Oakland we know any one of these six Oakland exhibitions will be worth going a long way to see. We know what this automobile can show you in power, body finish, gameness, traffic-control and all-round driving ease and comfort!

You will want to see the new kind of motor car quality and performance Oakland and General Motors have created.

It is a year tried and true. Oakland owners have already given the Oakland Six unanimous approval after exposing it to every possible test, on every road in America.

Drop in and see Oakland deliver according to Sealed Orders!

Firestone full-size

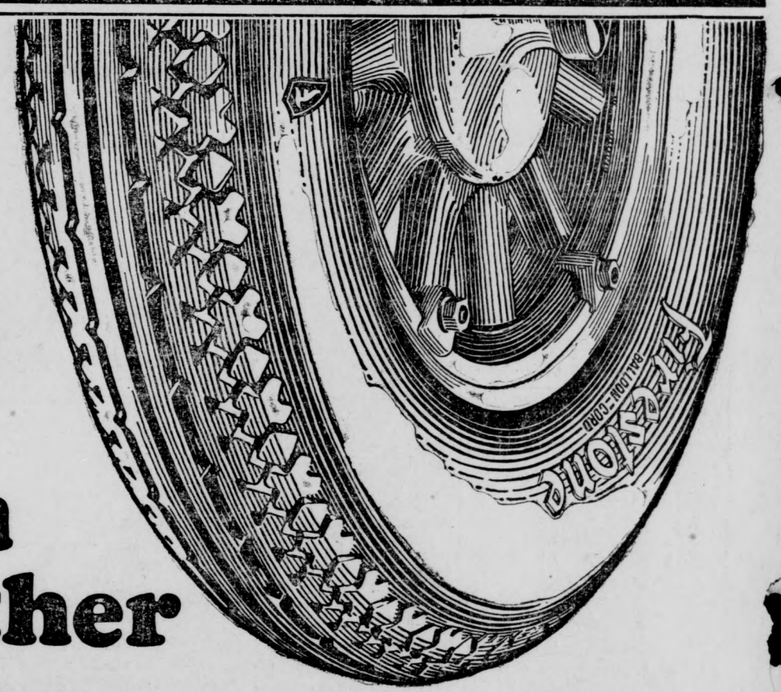
BALLOON GUM-DIPPED CORDS



Perform as No Other Tire Can—

Because No Other Tire Is Gum-Dipped

Gum-dipping is the special Firestone process that made the Balloon Tire practical by adding extra strength and endurance to thin side wall construction. It insulates each strand of each cord with pure rubber—destructive internal friction is eliminated—resistance to wear is increased — and longer tire life results.

Firestone, having perfected the Gum-Dipping process and used it for years, was in the position to pioneer the Balloon Tire. Gum-dipping is the foundation of modern tire performance. Race drivers insist on Gum-Dipped cords — which have won all the important track and speedway events in recent years. Leading taxicab and bus operators recognize the mileage value of Gum-Dipped cord construction by standardizing on Firestone. Millions of motorists use Gum-Dipped cords exclusively because their own check-up of mileage and all-round performance has convinced them of Gum-Dipped superiority.

Balloon Gum-Dipped Cords have produced remarkably high mileage per tire in over 5,300,000 miles of supervised tests. For comfortable motoring, for greater safety in fall and winter driving — equip now with Firestone Full-size Balloon Gum-Dipped Cords. Their leadership is based on proven merit.
